Typhoon Hits Third Fleet; 21 Warships Suffer Damage

By WILLIAM F. TYREE
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

GUAM, July 13.—(BUP)—A tropical typhoon howled down at 100 miles an hour on Admiral William F. Halsey's Third Fleet between the Philippines and Okinawa, June 5, damaging more than 21 warships including three battleships and five carriers.

Pacific fleet headquarters, announcing the fleet's bout with the typhoon, said today that all the damaged warships have returned to action except one. That was the heavy cruiser Pittsburgh, which lost its entire bow section about 100 feet long.

No ship was lost. A dispatch from aboad the flagship of Vice-Admiral John S. McCain, task force commander under Halsey, said only one life was lost—"in itself a miracle."

SHIPS DAMAGED

Battleships damaged in the raging typhoon some 900 miles northwest of Okinawa were the Massachusetts, Indiana and Alabama. The other victims included the heavy carriers Hornet and Bennington, the light carriers San Jacinto and Belleau Wood, the escort carrier Bougainville, the destroyers John Rodgers and Blue, three other cruisers and seven destroyers.

The navy said a number of other warships were damaged, but did not list the complete roster.

The typhoon swept directly over a large portion of the Third Fleet, whipping the seas into mountainous waves and tossing the giant warcraft around like toys.

The storm caught Halsey's Japanese-hunting naval force only about a week after it returned to action, bent on searching out and destroying the remnants of Emperor Hirohito's sea and air power.

The Japanese themselves have as yet offered no formidable chal-

The Bulletin to Publish Revealing Gamelin Series

On May 10, 1940, Maurice-Gustave Gamelin was the commander of France's "Greatest Army in the World."

Nine days later Gamelin was relieved, the Maginot line shattered, his armies in dazed retreat. Dunkerque was just ahead.

France, described since the first Great War as the greatest of all military powers, was found unprepared.

Much of the bickering, the Fifth Column, and the defeatism involved in one of history's greatest national collapses is well-known. But not until now has Gen. Gamelin, head of the French Army from 1935 to May 19, 1940, spoken.

GEN. GAMELIN

In the first newspaper articles he has written, he discusses some of the immediate factors in France's downfall which have puzzled military and political observers for years.

He blames Marshal Petain for much of France's failure to be prepared, says France could have fought on, anyway. He reveals that the Maginot line was in good part propaganda. He explains the "phony war" and France's lack of armored divisions.

Gen. Gamelin has written five chapters on an enthralling period in history, exclusively for The Associated Press and distributed in Canada by The Canadian Press. The first will appear Monday, July 16, in The Edmonton Bulletin.

Repatriation Point System Coming to End

By ROSS MUNRO

APELDOORN, Holland, July 13.—(CP)— Repatriation of Canadian soldiers from the continent to Canada by drafts of individuals generally is coming to an end, it was learned officially at 1st Canadian Army headquarters yesterday.

The balance and bulk of the army will be moved home almost entirely by units and sub-units repatriated into territorial groups as closely as possible.

Authorities consider the time has come when high point scores cannot longer be an influencing factor in repatriation and movement home must be done now in selected sequence of units and sub-units. Units of the 1st Division will be the first to depart from Holland and it is expected under present plans they will leave during August.

This new phase of the repatriation program is in accord with the policy originally announced to the troops shortly after V-E Day. The

Truman to Reach Antwerp Sunday

By WALTER CRONKITE
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

ANTWERP, July 13.—(BUP)—President Truman was expected to dock here Sunday morning, it was understood today, and probably will motor to Brussels where he will take a plane to Berlin and the Big Three discussions.

Details of the President's arrival and his itinerary were blacked out because of security regulations.

However, it was believed certain that he will drive to Brussels since Antwerp does not have an airfield regarded as safe for the Presidential plane.

U.S. Ambassador Charles Sawyer will greet Truman and accompany him to Brussels.

Extend Leaves Freed Prisoners

OTTAWA, July 13.—(CP)—Defence headquarters disclosed yesterday that liberated prisoners of war returned to Canada now are being granted 42 days instead of the usual 30 days disembarkation leave. All liberated prisoners of war now on leave are being notified of the change.

Fighting Advance

Aussies, Dutch Breach Enemy's Borneo Lines

From CP, AP and BUP Dispatches

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, July 13.—Paced by flame-throwing tanks, and armed with new and more powerful grenades, Australian 7th Division troops and a Dutch colonial contingent, have knifed deep into Japanese defences on Smashed Stone Ridge north of captured Balik Papan. The advance was made in the face of heavy fighting as the Allies succeeded in tightening the net around the strongly held Mount Batochampar fortress where the Japanese have holed up.

Dutch units joined the Australians in a left flank march up Karingo peninsula to execute a brilliant encircling manoeuvre against the entrenched Japanese who are pocketed some six miles north of Balik Papan town.

The Borneo campaign is being fought in steaming, rain-drenched forests and deceptive bogs overgrown with mangrove under a blazing tropical sun.

Leave Extended To Full 30 Days

VANCOUVER, July 13.—(CP)—Officials at Pacific Command said last night they had received word from national defence headquarters at Ottawa yesterday that leaves of 29 British Columbia men who returned home last Sunday from the European war had been raised to 30 days.

The men, selected for instructional duty in the Pacific, said on arrival that their leaves had been cut from 30 to 21 days.

(At Ottawa Wednesday NDH said volunteers for the Far East forces who returned to Canada had been guaranteed only as much leave as it was possible to give them until they were needed.)

The 29 B.C. officers and men were flown from England to New York. They were among a group of 200 sent home by air.

Big Area of Japan Ablaze After Raid

From CP, AP and BUP Dispatches

AAF HEADQUARTERS, GUAM, July 13.—Hours after the B-29 attack which laid waste a 450-mile stretch of the Japanese homeland, gasoline-fed flames, fanned by a Pacific gale, are raging out of control this morning. Five packed war centres on Honshu and Shikoku are still ablaze following the 3,000-ton incendiary raid by some 550 Superfortresses.

It was the 38th consecutive attack on Japan and raised to 39 the number of enemy home cities gutted by Allied bombs since the pre-invasion bombardment began last March.

And fresh warning that Japan's ordeal by fire and high explosive will be stretched around the clock until the enemy is beaten into submission came from Canadian-born Gen. George C. Kenney, commander of the Far Eastern Air Forces under Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Kenney revealed that the Seventh Air Force, aerial spearhead of the American march across the central Pacific, had been shifted from

Big Port of Amoy Isolated by Chinese

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

CHUNGKING, July 13.—(BUP)—Chinese troops are moving on Japanese-held Kweilin and Kanhsien, formerly two of the main American air bases in southern China, and have completely isolated the big east coast port of Amoy, a Chinese army spokesman said today.

The spokesman said four Chinese columns were closing in rapidly on Kweilin, in northern Kwangsi province, and that the air base city is now directly threatened.

Kanhsien, more than 300 miles to the east, has been practically surrounded by other Chinese forces, the spokesman said.

Japanese operations along the China coast around Amoy have been restricted to local forays, he added, reporting that the Amoy garrison is now cut off from all land communications with the main Japanese forces in China.

Non-Fraternization Irks Troops

Tommy Atkins and GI Joe Take Cue from Reds In Berlin

By DANIEL DE LUCE

BERLIN, July 13.—(AP)—To the great relief of Tommy Atkins and G.I. Joe, when you're in Berlin you do as the Russians do.

In other words, British and American troops in the German capital—most of whom are fed up with the non-fraternization policy in force in Western Germany—are copying the internationally friendly ways of the Red Army in peacetime.

The generals may say that nothing has been changed in the rule book since they moved more than 30,000 British and American soldiers into Berlin. But things nevertheless seem to be different.

Ivanovich—the Red Army equivalent of Tommy Atkins—operates on the understanding that he's not supposed to take dyed in the wool Nazis to his bosom. He believes that Nazis properly belong behind bars, and that Germans who are not Nazis are entitled to be treated without race hatred. Premier Stalin's words to that effect appear on many signboards.

Therefore, when Ivan saunters out in the early evening for feels perfectly free to drop into a convenient cafe, strike up an acquaintance with any German girl and invite her to dance and drink with him.

In the past week British and American troops also have been crowding night spots favored by the Russians.

Last Monday, British, Canadian and American military police—operating in teams—began trying to discourage public dancing by troops of the Western Allies along such bright light avenues as Kurfuerstendamm.

"Take it easy, soldier," was their cautionary advice. "You can sit it out with a girl, but don't get up and dance until non-frat is lifted."

Most of the soldiers accepted it good humoredly, though pointing out that their Russian Allies were enjoying life without hindrance.

Andamans Also Bombarded As Signs of Invasion Mount

From CP, AP and BUP Dispatches

SOUTH EAST ASIA COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, CALCUTTA, July 13.—Indications that an important landing operation may be in the making were seen here today with the delayed announcement that British warships operating in the Malacca Straits between Sumatra and Singapore have been in "softening up" operations, usually indicative of invasion landings in the near future.

British fleet units have bombarded the strategic Nicobar and Andaman islands, while carrier planes from the same fleet attacked airfields in northwest Sumatra. The planes also dropped bombs on military installations on the Nicobars.

CLEAR CUT MINES

At the same time British minesweepers were active in the area and swept the approaches to Malacca strait from July 5 to July 10. Although they were in enemy waters no Japanese vessels were sighted.

The Nicobars lie 280 miles north west of Sumatra, rich Dutch oil producing island, and about 900 miles off Singapore. They are about 400 miles west of the Kra peninsula of Malaya, linking Singapore to the mainland of India.

According to the communique issued here today the attacking naval force was the British 5th Cruiser Squadron, commanded by Rear Admiral W. R. Patterson. Among the vessels engaged were the cruiser Nigeria, the carriers Ameer and Nabob and the destroyer Rochuck and the 6th Minesweeping Flotilla.

MANY TARGETS

Japanese radar installations, airfields and shore batteries were bombarded from the sea and air.

Michael MacDonagh, Reuters war correspondent who accompanied the fleet, gives an eye-witness account of the operations.

"For seven days we steamed up and down within sight of Japanese-occupied territory in one of the "cheekiest" operations yet carried out by the British East

Fallow Says:

Govt. Attitude On New Road Unreasonable

The attitude of the Dominion government on the question of the construction of a road north of Grimshaw to service mining districts in the northwest is "most unreasonable", Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, said Friday.

"I cannot understand the attitude of the Dominion government in expecting Alberta to construct a standard grade highway for 100 miles through sparsely settled country when other areas in the province are served only by a district road," the minister stated.

LETTER RECEIVED

Friday he received a letter from the Hon. James A. MacKinnon, minister of trade and commerce, stating that he supported the attitude of the department of mines and resources in that he was of the opinion that the province should pay the full cost of construction of the highway for the first 100 miles north of Notikewin. Beyond that point, for the remaining 200 miles of roadway which would lie inside the provincial boundary, the cost would be shared, one-third by the provincial government and two-thirds by the federal.

The proposed highway would follow the winter road now north to Hay River on Great Slave Lake, with a branch running west to Fort Providence on the Mackenzie river.

Mr. Fallow pointed out that the province has already built 60 miles of highway from Grimshaw north to Notikewin, and he is not prepared to accept the federal government's proposition for the province to pay for an additional 100 miles.

WOULD SHARE COST

He said he has already indicated to the Dominion government his willingness to participate in the cost of the construction of the highway for the full 300 miles from Notikewin to the northern boundary of the province, on the usual basis for mining roads which is borne one third by the province and two thirds by the Dominion.

Beyond the provincial boundary where the road enters the North West Territories the road would be on not a federal undertaking, the minister said.

At a meeting of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce Wednesday committees were appointed to investigate the delays in the construction of the Grimshaw highway. Mr. Fallow said he was glad to see they business men of the city interesting themselves in the situation.

Friday Is Hottest Day of This Year

At noon Friday the mercury had soared to 88 above zero, the highest reading recorded this year. Steadily rising temperatures during the week reached 85 Thursday, second highest temperature for the year. Prespects are for "fair and cooler" weather, with fresh winds Saturday.

The overnight low was 57 and the minimum temperature tonight is estimated at 60.

The high for tomorrow is 78.

OTTAWA, July 13.—(CP)—Maj.-Gen. W. W. Foster, special commissioner for defence projects in northwest Canada for the past two years, with headquarters at Edmonton, is relinquishing that post to become a member of the British Columbia power commission, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced yesterday.

Gen. Foster, appointed special commissioner at the time that the United States was starting work on the joint projects for defence purposes in the Canadian northwest, will be succeeded by Wing Cmdr. L. H. Phinney of Edmonton, who will serve as acting special commissioner.

With the completion of all the northwest projects and the general reduction of activities in the area, it has become possible to release Gen. Foster for the appointment

Manning Says:

West Premiers Ready to Join In Rates Issue

Premiers of the other three western provinces have indicated their willingness to join with Alberta in presenting a united opposition to any request for a general increase in freight rates in Canada, it was announced Friday by Premier Ernest Manning.

The premier emphasized that the co-operative effort does not refer to any freight rate situation in the individual provinces but is only in opposition to a general increase.

ASKS REDUCTION

It has already been announced that Alberta intends to make application for a reduction in freight rates as they apply to this province.

Mr. Manning said he had been in touch with Premiers Douglas, Garson and Hart, and they had indicated their willingness to co-operate in opposition to any effort to increase freight rates generally.

The provincial heads will discuss the situation at the earliest possible opportunity, Premier Manning said. He added that it was quite possible they would get together when they are all in the east for the Dominion-Provincial conference on Aug. 6.

"In view of the meeting of the legislature in Alberta the end of this month, any meeting before that date seems doubtful," he said.

Study Proposal

1 Week Before Definite Action On Home Loans

TORONTO, July 13.—(CP)—A spokesman for life insurance company interests said today it would be about a week before any definite steps emerge from their study of a proposal that they step into the low and moderate-rental housing businesses requested by Finance Minister Ilsley.

Mr. Ilsley was promised life insurance firms in Canada would give "very sympathetic" consideration to that tentative amounts to a $55,000,000 project involving construction of some 12,000 housing units in congested areas, the spokesman said.

TO DECIDE AMOUNT

He added that each firm would have to decide how much money it could contribute to a common pool out of which it is proposed to form a number of limited dividend com-

Woman Is Stabbed At Dawson Creek

VICTORIA, July 13. — (CP) — Bruce Potter was arrested by British Columbia police late yesterday for questioning in connection with the death earlier of Mrs. Edna Rogers at Dawson Creek, B.C.

Word that Potter, object of a hunt in the Dawson Creek vicinity since Mrs. Rogers was found stabbed to death, was received by provincial police headquarters here last night.

Radio reports said Mrs. Rogers was stabbed in the presence of her two children. Potter was described as a friend of the dead woman and a search was started for him after he was reported to have fled into the woods.

Details concerning his arrest were not announced.

47,000 Troops Due in Canada Within 30 Days

OTTAWA, July 13.—(CP)—The number of troops brought back to Canada from overseas during the 30-day period between the end of the first week of July and the end of the first week in August is expected to total 47,000, but this movement is not likely to make any change in the number of men scheduled to be returned home this year, a defence department spokesman said today.

Approximately 126,000 servicemen—101,530 soldiers and 24,470 airmen—are scheduled to be brought home in the last six months of this year, Defence Minister McNaughton announced recently. This would leave more than 125,000 army personnel, excluding the occupation force of 25,000, still overseas.

Typhoon Hits U.S. 3rd Fleet: Ships Damaged

lenge. But the tropical blow hit the navy harder, it appeared on the basis of the first report, than the enemy ever has.

This was the second time Halsey's fleet has had to fight infuriated nature harder than the Japanese.

In December, east of the Philippines, his force lost three destroyers when a storm struck while it was returning from supporting the American landing in Mindoro.

The damage to most of the listed ships included the ripping off of superstructures. By far the heaviest sufferer was the Pittsburgh, a 23,000-ton cruiser in action less than a year.

BEING REPAIRED

The Pittsburgh's crew brought her 900 miles to Guam under her own power, and she is being repaired at another port. The Pittsburgh, of the Baltimore heavy cruiser class, has an overall length of 665 feet. Thus nearly one seventh of her entire length was torn off and whipped away in the blinding seas.

The crew had a 10-minute warning that the 'tow was about to go. All the men scrambled out of the forward section of the ship.

Not one of the more than 1,000 men aboard was lost. The watertight doors had been set for the storm. Even the severed bow section stayed afloat.

After the rupture, a score of officers and men went up to begin the perilous job of shoring up the Pittsburgh's stump with timbers. Only a quarter-inch bulkhead was between them and the lashing waters.

For five hours they toiled in knee-deep water and oil. Then the Pittsburgh set a course for Guam at 8½ knots. Five days later the cruiser reached port. It's how had been taken in tow by a destroyer and tugs, and caught up with the Pittsburg in a week.

No American Sugar Is Going to Spain

WASHINGTON, July 13—(AP)—Acting State Secretary Grew said yesterday the United States currently is shipping no sugar to Spain. Under a joint British-American supply agreement, 30,000 tons was sent to Spain during the first half of 1945 from British sources in the Caribbean and transported on Spanish ships. In return, Spain agreed not to enter the world market for any other sugar.

The Sepinggan airfield, near Balik Papan will be ready for use within a few days. Thousands of air force men have been assigned to extend the airstrip to 7,000 feet and transports and fighters will be able to land soon.

Ninth Division Australian troops pushing up the railway from Beaufort, in northern Borneo, gained 10 miles to reach a point 30 miles south of Jesselton. The unopposed troops captured Kimanis, 21 miles northeast of Beaufort.

Amphibious troops landed five miles ahead of the Ninth's troops at Andus, 25 miles south of Jesselton. The landing was unopposed. Planes and light naval craft supported the drive.

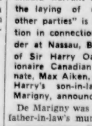

Swift patrol boats and RAAF Spitfires teamed up to bomb and strafe areas in northeastern Borneo setting afire two bridges and a number of buildings.

New Evidence Said at Hand In Oakes Case

TORONTO, July 13—(CP)—New evidence which we believe should warrant a new trial and the laying of charges against other parties" is under investigation in connection with the murder at Nassau, Bahamas, in 1943 of Sir Harry Oakes, multi-millionaire Canadian mining magnate, Max Aiken, solicitor for Sir Harry's son-in-law, Alfred de Marigny, announced yesterday.

De Marigny was charged with his father-in-law's murder but was acquitted later in 1944.

De Marigny

Aiken said he and De Marigny were in possession of new information in the case but he did not disclose its nature. He said it would be forwarded to Bahamas officials.

Harold G. Christie, chief crown witness in the trial, recently contradicted Mr. De Marigny in Montreal and as a result "Mr. De Marigny contacted me as his solicitor and immediately left for New York and subsequently for the Bahamas last week", Aiken added.

ASK ORDER REVOKED

A petition was sent yesterday to the governor of the Bahamas asking revocation of the deportation order issued against De Marigny following the arial, Mr. Aiken said.

The petition, submitted by De Marigny's solicitors said his deportation after acquittal was without legal precedent.

"By this action, our client's visa for the U.S. was immediately cancelled and he was able to find asylum only in Cuba," it continued. "From Cuba he attempted to go to Jamaica where the doors were also closed to him due to this deportation order and now he finds himself unable to go to any British colony where he might be able to work and start life anew."

Gale Fanning Fires in Japan Set by Bombers

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz's command to join the Fifth, 13th and 20th Bomber Commands in the final phase of the Pacific War.

"As soon as we're in position, we will attack Japan from 10,000 feet and from the west with fires and explosives, with fighters and bombers, and we'll do it 24 hours a day," Kenney promised grimly.

The Japanese Domei News Agency went even farther than Kenney, asserting that the 24-hour bombardment "Already is a reality."

Domei said the B-29's already have switched from bombing Japan's major cities to the smaller war centres and warned that the next and probably final phase before invasion will be the attack of Japanese railway and highway communications.

PRIME TARGETS

All the B-29 targets in today's pre-dawn attack were secondary production centres, each of 100,000 or less population, although their closely-packed war plants and thousands of "shadow factories" made them prime bombing objectives.

Towering fires shot thousands of feet into the air long before the last raider unloaded their deadly cargo of incendiaries. High winds fanned the giant bombers about the sky like matchsticks and whipped the fires below into giant sheets of flame visible for more than 50 miles.

All five of the night's targets were closely-packed fire traps, mostly antique wood-and-paper cities.

SILENCE ON FLEET

There was no new word in Nimitz' early morning communique on the whereabouts of the U.S. Third Fleet that hit the Tokyo area Tuesday, but navy and marine planes were in the attack over Honshu and the sea lanes off Japan all day yesterday.

They hammered Japanese airfields and communications on Kyushu and destroyed or damaged three more enemy ships and small coastal craft.

Kenney's airmen, meanwhile, bagged another nine Japanese vessels and three planes in sweeps over Formosa and the China coast.

Weather Favors Japan Bombings

OKINAWA, July 13—(AP)—Observers reported yesterday that during the last couple of months American airmen may expect generally clear skies for bombing and strafing missions over Japan. This is true, weather men explained, despite the fact the period will also be one of increasing typhoons and electrical storms. These violent disturbances occur only occasionally, three or four a month at the most.

Prisoners of Japs Will Get Comforts

for the return of 26,000 men in each of the months of July, August and September and 48,000 in the period October-December. Top priority is being given men who have volunteered for service in the Pacific.

It was thought unlikely that sufficient shipping would be available to keep the men coming back at the rate of 47,000 per 30-day period, the spokesman said.

Defence Minister McNaughton said yesterday that six ships carrying 19,300 men will arrive in Halifax in a period of seven days late this month and would tax Canadian railways to their limit.

29,200 ARRIVALS

Army authorities said that their arrivals since V-E Day to date total 29,200, with another 4,800 expected within a few days. The RCAF said 12,000 of its personnel have returned by sea and 1,400 by air. A group of 4,206 is expected shortly. About 10,000 navy men have returned, naval officials stated.

Gen. McNaughton said that there were still nearly 400,000 persons awaiting transportation to Canada, including 235,000 army personnel and 68,000 air force personnel, as well as members of other services and dependents.

Ask Set Aside Lupe Velez' Will

LOS ANGELES, July 13—(CP)—An assertion that Lupe Velez made a secret agreement with her sister, Mrs. Josephine Anderson, whereby the latter was to pose as the mother of her expected child and care for it for a year was made yesterday in a contestor's claim filed by Mrs. Anderson against the late screen star's estate.

She said the agreement was made last November, the month before the Mexican actress ended her life and that of her unborn child with sleeping tablets in her Beverly Hills mansion.

Mrs. Anderson declared her sister agreed to pay her $20,000 for the purchase of a home and $5,000 living expenses for a year.

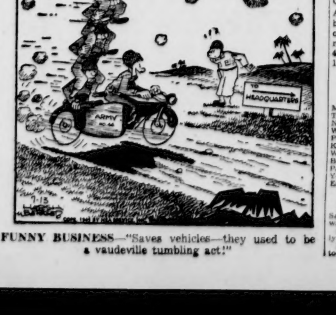

Mrs. Anderson filed suit last Saturday asking the superior court to revoke the actress' will, leaving a third of her reputed $250,000 estate to Mrs. Beulah Kinder, her secretary-companion for 10 years, and making no provision for Mrs. Anderson.

At that time she filed a creditor's claim for $20,000, declaring she saved the estate double that amount by preventing her sister's burial in a $12,000 bronze casket together with a $16,000 ring and a $15,000 ermine cape.

Repatriation Point System Coming to End

policy was laid down that Far East volunteers would be first home and units would follow.

CFEF MEN HOME

Volunteers from this theatre for the Far East Force are practically all home and most of those with extremely long service who can be released from duty here also have returned to Canada.

Repatriation of individuals on a priority basis of high point scores before low has a strong sentimental influence, an army spokesman said, but it is not a rational procedure and is one which can be carried out only partially.

In the 1st Canadian Army it has reached its limits of practicability in the views of officers handling the repatriation program. Already, due to the movement to Canada, the army is experiencing acute shortages in properly qualified officers, non-commissioned officers and such essential tradesmen as butchers, clerks, storemen and shoemakers.

If the present system of what some army men call "repatriation by disintegration" were allowed to continue, it might not be possible to maintain and administer the troops remaining in Holland awaiting repatriation.

CHIEF OBSTACLES

One of the chief obstacles in continuing the individual's priority system is the fact that the majority of high point men are in administrative services, such as signals and army service corps, which did not suffer heavy casualties in the campaign. These services are essential now and the men in them cannot be spared in the numbers their points might warrant.

(For each month's overseas service a man is credited with three points, with 20 per cent. additional credit if he is married, or widowed, or divorced with dependents.)

The new phase of the repatriation program is being carefully explained to the troops in Holland.

Wounded Soldiers Given Preference On Railway Trips

HALIFAX, July 13—(CP)—Transport officers at headquarters of Military District No. 6 said last night that soldiers listed as "walking wounded," travelling on leave to their homes in Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, get a little extra attention on trains as a result of an unofficial arrangement between military and railway officials.

Rail tickets of these men are stamped with the letters "L.O.C.—Leave, Overseas Casualty." This gets the veterans preferred treatment from conductors in getting berths or being served in crowded diners.

The transport officials said the scheme is working out well.

Slight 'Quake

LOS ANGELES, July 13—(AP)—A slight earthquake jarred western sections of the Los Angeles metropolitan area at about 11.30 p.m. MDT, last night, residents of the area reported.

Nicobar Isles Are Bombarded By Royal Navy

Indies Fleet—a widespread sweep in the area of Nicobar and Andaman islands in the Bay of Bengal, and North Sumatra," he said.

"By doing so we gave the Japanese a chance to come out and meet us. The Japanese, however, shied off completely. It is possible that they are using their fleet's dwindling strength to meet the next big landing assault.

GIVES JAPS JITTERS

"It seems certain that the lack of indication as to just where the blow will fall is giving their island garrisons a severe attack of jitters.

Navy Hellcats attacked Japanese shipping, bombed and strafed airfields, and destroyed building and military installations in this sustained minesweeping and assault operation, and the surface forces bombarded gun positions on Car Nicobar.

"Apart from light to medium flak on the airfields no opposition was encountered, and only one of the only two Japanese reconnaissance planes to take the air was shot down.

"The first attack was carried out as the minesweepers began a five-days' job of clearing the seas around Car Nicobar.

HAD CLEAR RUNS

"Hellcats struck at the harbor and airfield on the island and simultaneously shore installations were bombarded by ships of the escort force.

"Sub-Lt. Richard Watkins of Glamorganshire, Wales, who flew in one of the attacking planes, describing the strike, said: 'We had absolutely clear runs at our target. The Japanese put up some flak but didn't bother us much. The target areas were well passed.'"

"A further bombardment was carried out at night.

"The second target to be struck was the harbor area on Nancowry Island, where two Japanese merchant ships were damaged.

"The most striking feature of the whole operation was the absence of any sign of Japanese retaliation."

Battle of Britain Really Beat Nazis

The Germans were actually beaten during the Battle of Britain, the Rev. Henry Cook, of London, England, told members of the Edmonton Rotary club when he addressed their Thursday luncheon meeting in the Macdonald hotel.

Speaking on "London in the Blitz," he said, "just as the Germans were defeated at the Battle of the Marne during the First World War, so they were beaten during the Battle of Britain in this war, although in both cases it took a long time to convince them."

He stated that Canada and Great Britain had contributed magnificently to the war effort for two totally different reasons.

"The fresh, youthful, pioneer spirit of the Canadian people made them want to get a difficult job finished, and in Great Britain, it was the basis of a long tradition of freedom that prevented loss of morale."

The speaker, who is a leading Baptist church minister in London, said that rations are becoming more severe in Britain at the present time than at any time during the war.

"Until the European situation is straightened out we will just have to tighten our belts another notch."

Gen. Eisenhower Is Back at Work In German City

FRANKFURT ON MAIN, Germany, July 13—(AP)—Gen. Eisenhower was back at work yesterday —and associates said they had never seen the Allied commander "in higher spirits or looking so well."

There was no fanfare for his return from the United States, which gave him a thunderous homecoming hero's welcome. He greeted his friends, chatted with them for a while and then plunged into the work which had piled up during his absence.

Friday night will be a historic moment in Gen. Eisenhower's career—for at the stroke of midnight Allied supreme headquarters, the organization through which he directed Allied forces to the defeat of Germany, will be dissolved.

No official ceremonies are planned for the event.

Catholic Cardinal Is Dead in Europe

LONDON, July 13.—(CP)—Reuters News agency said last night that news had reached Pilsen, Czechoslovakia, of the death of Adolf Cardinal Bertram, 86, archbishop of Breslau and a sharp critic of Nazi policies. His death would reduce the College of Cardinals to 40 members, the lowest number in 144 years.

Monty, Ike Decide

German General Staff's Fate To Be Known Soon

FRANKFURT, July 13.—(AP)—Field Marshal Montgomery and Gen. Eisenhower are expected to decide soon on what to do with the German general staff.

At midnight tonight Supreme Headquarters of the Allied Expeditionary Force will be dissolved, but the problem of handling the hundreds of high ranking staff and field officers of the German army who are prisoners of the western Allies awaits final disposition.

British and American officers held informal discussions on the matter during Gen. Eisenhower's absence.

These conversations touched on the possibility of breaking up the German general staff and condemning its members to exile in British and Russian colonies throughout the world, but the talks were regarded as no more than ground clearing expeditions assembling data to be presented to Field Marshal Montgomery and Gen. Eisenhower.

Of the captured German military hierarchy one ASH officer said:

"Some of them ought to be shot as criminals and undoubtedly will be. Others must be regarded purely as military figures who carried out military orders. All these officers are still in uniform and are classified strictly as military prisoners."

Research Group Is Organized In RCAF Move

OTTAWA, July 13.—(CP)—The creation of a new branch in the RCAF to be known as the research and development division, and the appointment of Air Vice Marshal E. W. Stedman, 57, of Ottawa to the air council as head of the new division, was announced yesterday by air force headquarters.

Stedman

Need for the new division became increasingly evident throughout the European air war with the introduction of new and ingenious devices and weapons, said headquarters.

The flying bombs and long range rocket opened up entirely new fields, all of which must be exploited. The advances made in aircraft power plants and particularly the gas turbine, geared to drive a propeller or used as a jet, have revolutionized military aircraft. Few aircraft now available will in a few years time be suitable for use in war.

King Announces Foster to Quit Northwest Post which the British Columbia government wishes him to accept, said Mr. King.

In his capacity as special commissioner, General Foster has been directly responsible to the cabinet war committee for the supervision and co-ordination of the wartime activities of government departments in the northwest. He has also been his duty to provide for continual and effective Canadian participation and co-operative with the United States in the conduct of these activities.

Since his appointment, the northwest air route has become a main channel for the shipment of vast quantities of planes and other war materials to Russia and has also been used to move tactical aircraft and other war supplies in connection with the war against Japan.

Wing Cmdr. Phinney, a flyer in the last war, joined the RCAF early in this war. In civilian life he had been employed by the government of Manitoba, surveying natural resources in the northern part of the province. Because of his knowledge of the northwest, coupled with flying experience, he was appointed assistant to Gen. Foster in September, 1944.

panies to operate in various centres now plagued by housing shortages.

One big consideration, it was said, is that the proposal contemplates a 2½ per cent guaranteed income which "would not allow much dividend for policy holders."

NEW HOMES TO RENT FOR ABOUT $30 MONTH

MONTREAL, July 13—(CP)—The 12,000 new dwellings which Canadian insurance companies are planning to build under an agreement with the federal government will rent "as close to $30 a month as possible," an official connected with the plan said today.

The dwellings will probably be of the multiple unit type in most cases to conserve building materials and to achieve the lowest construction cost, the official said. He added that Montreal is to get 1,500 of the homes but could not give details as to the distribution in other parts of Canada.

The insurance companies are entering the housing field through limited dividend housing corporations, and it is estimated that $55,000,000 is to be spent on the project.

Commentator Admits Hatred of British

LONDON, July 13.—(Reuters)—Jean Herold Paquis, commentator on the German-controlled French radio during the Nazi occupation, said during examination in Paris yesterday: "I hated England and all I have done was on account of my anti-British feelings," Paris radio reported. Reuters' Paris correspondent reported Paquis declared he was not paid by the Germans for his broadcasts but by the PPF (the French People's Party, a Fascist organization headed by Jacques Doriot).

Civilians, Merchant Seamen Excluded

Empire Forces Suffer 1,427,634 Casualties in War Up to May 31

LONDON, July 13.—(Reuters)—Total casualties to all ranks of the British Commonwealth and Empire forces during the 5¾ years of war to May 31 last, were 1,427,634, it was announced last night.

Exclusive of civilian casualties and casualties to merchant seamen and members of the home guard, the total was 1,233,796.

The Canadian casualty total was 101,008, made up of 36,018 killed; 2,866 missing; 53,073 wounded and 9,051 prisoners of war. Those listed as killed do not include personnel who died from natural causes.

CANADIAN FIGURES

(Defence headquarters in Ottawa announced June 27 that the Canadian army, navy and air force suffered 102,954 casualties up to May 31, including 37,964 dead and 2,866 missing. The death total included 1,946 who died from natural causes.)

The total number killed for all the empire was 336,772; missing 98,112; wounded 468,388, and prisoners of war 330,523.

LISTED BY COUNTRIES

By countries, the figures were as follows:

Britain (including men from overseas serving in British armed forces, especially from Newfoundland and Southern Rhodesia: killed 233,042; missing 57,472; wounded 275,975; prisoners 183,849.

Australia: killed 21,415; missing 6,519; wounded 37,477; prisoners 26,800.

New Zealand: killed 9,844; missing 2,201; wounded 19,253; prisoners 8,485.

South Africa: killed 6,417; missing 1,980; wounded 13,773; prisoners 14,595.

India: killed 23,295; missing 12,264; wounded 62,064; prisoners (including 20,540 missing, presumed prisoners of war) 79,692.

Colonies: killed 6,741; missing 14,811; wounded 6,773; prisoners 8,051.

TOTALS BY COUNTRIES

The casualty totals by countries were: United Kingdom 750,338; Canada 101,008; Australia 92,211; New Zealand 39,783; South Africa 36,765; India 177,315; Colonies 36,376.

The figures for those missing except for Canada, Australia and India, included those who have rejoined their own forces, and the figures for prisoners of war include those repatriated or liberated or who have escaped.

Casualties to merchant seamen due to enemy action during the war period ended May 31 totalled 45,315. Deaths, including deaths presumed in missing ships and deaths while interned, totalled 30,867; missing 4,690; wounded 4,252; and internees, 5,506.

The figures excluded deaths of nationals fo the United Kingdom serving on ships registered outside the United Kingdom. The figure for internees included those who have been repatriated or have escaped.

HOME GUARD LOSSES

Casualties to the British home guard attributable to service between May, 1940, and December, 1944, totalled 1,763, and included killed or died 1,206; wounded 557.

Civilian casualties from the outbreak of war until the end of fighting in Europe totalled 146,760. They included 60,585 killed or missing believed killed. This total included 26,920 men, 25,392 women, 7,736 children under 16 and 537 unidentified. Injured and detained in hospital totalled 86,175. Of these 40,736 were men, 37,816 women and 7,623 children.

During the First Great War British Empire deaths totalled 1,089,919 and wounded totalled 2,410,988. Of these 812,317 dead and 1,849,494 wounded were from Great Britain and Ireland.

City, District Men Returning From Overseas

Several trains carrying thousands of Army and Air Force personnel from overseas are due to arrive in Calgary during the next week or so.

City and district personnel on the trains will be sent here as soon as possible after reaching Calgary.

A special train with 32 officers and 370 men of the Canadian Army, who arrived at New York Wednesday on the Queen Mary, is due in Calgary Sunday at 8 a.m.

Another group of Western Canadian serviecmen, including 41 officers and 537 other ranks, is expected to arrive at Calgary Wednesday. The men arrived at Halifax on the Ile de France.

RCAF PERSONNEL

Nearly 400 RCAF personnel who landed from the same ship are expected to reach Calgary Thursday morning.

Arrival in Halifax of the hospital ship Letitia, originally scheduled for Thursday, will not take place until Saturday noon.

The Ile de France however, bringing back more than 10,000 Canadians, now is expected at midnight Friday instead of Saturday.

Of members of the Canadian Army recently returned to Canada from overseas aboard the liner Queen Mary, 402 officers and men are expected to arrive in Calgary at 8 a.m. Sunday, July 15. The exact time of arrival will not be available until shortly before they arrive in Calgary.

City and district personnel returning are:

Suggest de Gaulle May See Churchill

ST. JEAN DE LUZ, July 13.—(Reuters)—One of the current rumors in this small French coastal resort where Prime Minister Churchill is holidaying is that Gen. de Gaulle will possibly visit the prime minister but it is entirely without confirmation. Meanwhile, Mr. Churchill on this, the fifth day of his visit, was kept busy attending a local Basque fete staged in his honor on the shady lawns of the Chateau de Bordaberry, where he is living.

Asks Announcement Of Surrender Terms

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(AP)—A plea that the Allies spell out now the terms of surrender for Japan was voiced in the senate yesterday by Senator Homer E. Capehart (Rep.-Ind.) who said if the Japanese people knew what was in store for them they would be encouraged to surrender. Majority leader Alben Barkley (Dem.-Ky.) disagreed, contending such procedure "would do more to stiffen and strengthen the morale of the Japanese people than anything else that could happen".

Somebody Must Take Loss

The minister of labor has announced that special consideration will be given to the shortage of manpower in the building trades and in the occupations which produce building materials when it comes to releasing men from the armed forces.

This is good news, particularly as it indicates a recognition on the part of the government that housing is now the most urgent problem in the country.

But while the supply of manpower, the regulation of building costs and the production of building materials are all important, none of them touches the real crux of the matter. For the heart of the housing problem is fundamentally financial.

First and foremost, money must come from somewhere to provide a home for every family in Canada, service and civilian.

Secondly, it is painfully obvious that somebody must take a loss in supplying that money. It is economically impossible to erect enough houses throughout Canada to provide a home for everybody at a cost which, on a profit basis, will permit them to be rented at a level that the average Canadian can afford.

A rental which absorbs more than one-fifth of the individual's gross income is uneconomic and disastrous. That means that hundreds of thousands of houses must be built to rent at between $20 and $30 a month.

This cannot be done by private enterprise because private enterprise can only exist on a profit. Who, then, will absorb this essential loss?

The mortgage companies, very clearly, won't take it, and that is one reason why housing plans have been held up in Ottawa. Mr. Ilsley does not propose that the financial institutions shall be deprived of either business or income.

Whether housing is to be undertaken by Ottawa, by the provinces or by municipalities, the only body that can absorb this building loss is all the people of Canada.

Sooner or later interest-free money from the Bank of Canada must be released in adequate amounts for low rental housing.

The time to release those funds is now.

A Dash of Cold Water

A young airman stationed at Fort St. John, reading about the excellent courses offered at the University of Western Ontario, wrote a letter to that notable institution about an accelerated course in business administration.

There is a copy of the reply he received:

"We are not accelerating our course in business administration for anybody under any circumstances at any time in the remote or immediate future. The quality of the product is so well established in the business world of Canada that we do not feel that we are justified in diluting that quality even for the laudable purpose of helping ex-service men rapidly to acquire entry to civilian appointments."

This modest and courteous communication is signed by the registrar, E. P. R. Neville, Ph.D.

This is a stupid reply because there is no question of dilution of educational quality in any place, such as McGill and the University of Toronto, where these accelerated courses are offered. The briefer courses are offered on the understanding and in the knowledge that a more mature man will get down to the business of learning without the social, amorous or amusement distractions that frequently occur in the more leisurely university careers of ordinary and younger students.

It is a heartless reply because it is couched in curt and brusque terms that could only daub cold water on the ambitions of any young man in the services.

This is not written in the hope that the University of Western Ontario will reverse its policy. It has a right to do as it chooses.

But the public also has a right to know of some of the discouragements gratuitously offered to intelligent young men who are filled with a laudable desire to better themselves.

Learn to Swim

The provincial department of health has issued a warning to Alberta people to take complete precautions to guard against death by drowning now that the vacation season has arrived again.

Vacationists are asked to avoid unnecessary risks at lake and river resorts and to study and perfect themselves in the art of artificial respiration.

It is good, timely advice and should be heeded. But the provincial department of health could contribute much more effectively towards the reduction of deaths by drowning in another and much more direct way.

If direction and financial assistance were given in the construction of more swimming pools throughout the province and if competent instructors were employed to teach all young Alberta to swim, this advice and this warning would hardly be needed.

In any inland city a much smaller percentage of children learn to swim than in cities located on tidewater. Swimming in seaside towns becomes as natural as walking because a great part of the life of the youngster is spent on the beaches.

And yet, in the natural course of events, even those born in inland cities sooner or later are placed in jeopardy on some body of water.

Everyone should know how to swim. And if the provincial government would take the lead in a campaign towards that end, it would not only be adding to public security but would be making a substantial contribution towards the public health.

Super-Fiends

In sorting out the criminals responsible for Nazi outrages, clearly a special category has to be assigned to doctors and scientists who used prisoners in the concentration camps as human guinea pigs on whom to try experiments in new methods of torture and murder.

With them may properly be grouped the pundits who devised the "geopolitik" theory, proclaimed for the death factories and the systematized brutality practised in the concentration camps. Being educated men they are dyed with a deeper guilt than the ruffians who were charged with the actual operation of the extermination machinery and personally did the dirty work.

Commissions of investigation are ransacking the Reich in search for these super-scoundrels. They should be given all the time and money and help they need to make the search exhaustive to the last degree. Barbarism dressed in a gown and wearing a mortar-board is infinitely more dangerous than when it parades in less pretentious garb.

The oldest Methodist parsonage is being removed to M. McCauley's property, he having purchased it. The building was put up about 1871 or 1872, and is still perfect; solid and sound in all parts except the sills, which are decayed. The walls are of spruce logs hewn on two sides, and the floor of spruce planks sawn on one side and hewn on the other. All the lumber in it was sawn by hand, and even the nails were made in the same way by the H.B. blacksmith at the fort. The partitions are of dressed spruce lumber and show no sign of shrinkage although standing dry for so many years. The condition of this building is an evidence of the value of the native spruce as a building material, when properly handled, and it is also an evidence of good workmanship of the pioneers of Edmonton, as well as of the skilful management and missionary enthusiasm of the founder of the mission, and indeed it may be said of the town of Edmonton, Rev. George Macdougall. Its removal will make way for the new Public school building, which it is to be hoped will be as great a credit to Edmonton as it is, and standing now being removed was to Edmonton as it was.

The new school building will have two storeys and a basement, the full size. The basement walls will be of stone and the floor of cement. The building will be of brick, with galvanized iron shingles on the roof. The tower will contain a belfry. There will be three rooms on the ground floor and three on the second floor.

Mr. Bracken's Opportunity

Can Contribute Greatly to Success of Dominion-Provincial Conference

By GRANT DEXTER

As the leader of the opposition and head of the Conservative party, Mr. Bracken is in a position to contribute greatly to the success of the forthcoming Dominion - provincial conference. If Mr. Bracken were to declare that as opposition leader he would back the government in seeking to solve the constitutional problem, as Hepburn has, he did as premier of Manitoba, the effect might well be decisive. The government would be assured of overwhelming support in parliament and could go forward with the knowledge that Dominion-provincial relations would not become a federal political issue.

Failing such a statement, Mr. Bracken's position cannot be regarded as otherwise than in doubt. His record establishes the fact that he is a master of this problem. Prior to ousting the Conservative leader he was the acknowledged leader of the less-favored of the provinces. As such, he was a tower of strength at the side of Mr. King and Mr. Ilsley at the Dominion-provincial conference of January, 1941. But after December, 1942, when he became the Conservative leader, he ceased to show the same degree of concern in this matter. First by neglect and then by a positive statement in August, 1944, he indicated that only a lack of sympathy with the provincial whose cause he had previously championed, but a disposition to swing over to opposite policies now.

The Mr. Bracken who publicly consecrated his life as a public man to this great cause when premier of Manitoba, became a Conservative chieftain who could readily understand the difficulties of the two provinces that, in 1941, had wrecked his fondest hopes. It is always possible, of course, that Mr. Bracken may revert to his former position. And with this in mind, a brief survey of his record is desirable.

During the depression of the 1930's, Mr. Bracken, then premier of Manitoba, became seized of the importance of bringing about an adjustment in Dominion-provincial relations. From the time of the appointment of the Rowell-Sirois royal commission until 1942 when he entered federal politics, he talked about little else. He made more than a half-dozen speeches by Mr. Bracken in this period in which Dominion-provincial relations are not given great prominence.

Manitoba, under Mr. Bracken, prepared and submitted to the royal commission the best case of all the provinces. When the commission reported in May, 1940, Mr. Bracken accepted the recommendations wholehearted ly. He became a man with a mission and the mission was to bring about the adoption of the report. With the purpose of strengthening Manitoba's influence, Mr. Bracken created a coalition government in November, 1940. He believed that unity within the province was essential not only for purposes of war but of post-war planning. He met the Legislature after the coalition ministry was formed and declared that there were only three great issues to be faced—the war, the rebuilding of western agriculture, and the adoption of the Sirois report—"the greatest piece of statecraft ever achieved in Canada."

Mr. Bracken placed himself in a position of leadership of the less-favored provinces by demanding that the Dominion government act on the report. On August 23, 1940, he wrote to this writer and to Mr. King. On October 18, 1940, he wrote again. "It is essential to implement this report at the earliest moment that it is practicable to do so."

Mr. Bracken, no doubt, was in part responsible for the decision of the Ottawa government to call a Dominion-provincial conference to consider the report on January 14, 1941. The conference, it will be recalled, failed after two days of stormy, acrimonious discussion. The wreckers were Mr. Hepburn of Ontario, Mr. Pattullo of British Columbia, and Mr. Aberhart of Alberta. Mr. Bracken announced all three in unmeasured terms.

In the fight for the report, two men stood out. They were Mr. Ilsley and Mr. Bracken. Both were masters of the subject and it would be difficult to say which of the two was the more effective in the Hansard of the conference shows, both fought to the finish. Mr. Bracken made three speeches. There were no aspects of the problem with which he was not fully conversant; no answers he did not know.

To begin with, Mr. Bracken regarded the conference as being equally as important as the Confederation conferences of 1864 and 1866-67. He reviewed the commissioners' recommendations. He gave a detailed exposition of the conditions which made a readjustment between the two jurisdictions essential. And he went on to describe the penalty of failure to adopt the report. He said:

Suppose, for whatever reason, we fail in this conference to agree upon the recommended transfers of these taxes from the provincial to the federal jurisdiction, what would be the consequences of such disagreement?

In our judgment they would, among others, be these:

If the war ceases, the services of this war must be financed in large measure by taxation—as we have been warned by the minister of finance—I suggest that it would be both impolitic and financially unsound for the Dominion government to continue to impose a larger proportionate burden of regressive taxes, which bear more heavily upon persons of low and moderate incomes, than it does of progressive taxes which bear more heavily upon the wealthy.

If the Dominion government takes out a prior, and incidentally justifiable claim upon three of the most important provincial revenues, with some of the provinces in Canada just now emerging out of the near-insolvency of the depression, it is by no means improbable that provincial default will occur.

Provincial default, particularly if it becomes at all widespread, certainly would have a serious adverse effect upon Dominion credit . . . Thus the provinces are faced with the prospect of losing a great part of their present revenues from income, corporations and succession duties in our judgment, therefore, the provinces will bemost unwise if they do not concur in the recommendations that the Dominion should assume their debts, and take over unemployment relief. If we as provinces refuse to do this, and get into financial difficulties, we will have taken upon ourselves the grave responsibility of prejudicing the nation's credit at a time when that credit may mean all the difference between victory and defeat.

That is all I had intended to say. But before I take my seat I should like to add one other note of a different character. Three-quarters of a century ago John A. Macdonald and George Brown were familiar names in this part of Canada. I have no doubt that if there is a spiritual world their spirits are not far away from us at this moment. These two men held vastly different views as to the domestic policies of this part of the world at that time. They compromised those views and made possible the birth of the Canadian nation. . . . Candidly, I believe that this meeting here today is an historic meeting. I believe that what we do here today will determine whether in the next few decades we are going to have in the northern part of this continent one strong and united nation, or nine weak, disunited states. If John A. Macdonald and George Brown could compose their differences, then we can compose ours.

The immediate penalties foreseen by Mr. Bracken were avoided by wartime taxation agreements between the provinces and the provinces. These agreements, however, expire six months after the end of the war. What he said, however, holds true of the post-agreement period.

Money Not All

GUELPH MERCURY

The impression prevails that in order to find influence and fame, a man must be the possessor of wealth—the more money he has, the greater, and more extended, his reputation as a great citizen.

But this theory is completely blasted by the probation of the will of the late Jack Miner, the famous Kingsville Canadian naturalist's total estate consisted of real estate valued at $16,500. During the government valuation of his farm in connection with his bird sanctuary which is owned by the Jack Miner Foundation, and personal estate and effects valued at an additional $1,783, made up of personal belongings, cash in bank, and a small insurance policy.

Jack Miner was not blessed with great worldly wealth, but he possessed something more valuable—the admiration and affection of his fellowmen. He was an outstanding example of a comparatively poor man, of modest education, who rose to the ranks of the internationally famous because he had a great heart full of love for all of God's creatures. He befriended birds and animals, and through his writings, and addresses, known in all parts of this continent, he instilled into the minds of men and women a love for the beauties of nature and the responsibilities which human beings bear towards the lower forms of animal and bird life. At the time of his death he was rated Canada's best known private citizen and one of the five best known in the world. Eddie Guest, the Detroit poet, referred to him as "the best loved Christian in America."

Money is not necessary to true greatness. The life of Jack Miner proves it conclusively.

Soldiers and Fraternization

Men in Germany Think Present Policy Should Be Changed

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

Ten days ago, I received in my letterbox in the Press camp of a German town the following note from a soldier: "Won't you, please, tell our fellow people about this non-fraternization business. I was told I was fighting this war for the four freedoms, including freedom of speech. Now, for the first time in my life I am to be docked many months' pay and put in the clink for indulging in it. How can we ever have re-education, if we can't speak to people? How can we ever have peace, unless we create understanding. Don't our folks see, we ain't punishing the Krauts this way, we're punishing our own troops."

Dorothy Thompson

What is re-education? There are two conceptions of it, both with service supporters. One sergeant told me: "Before we got our quarters fixed, I moved into the German town X and we were billeted a few days with local people. Me and another sergeant with a private, the jeep driver, were sent to a nice home where we requisitioned three rooms. The woman there told me she didn't have three rooms but could give us two and offered a day-bed in the hall to the driver. I says, 'where do you sleep when you have lady?' and she shows me she's got a bedroom. So I say, 'you sleep in the hall, see, and our driver has your bed.' Was I burnt up at that old dame! She didn't seem to know we were conquerors."

I don't think that boy, ever before in his life, made a 60-year-old woman give him her bed, and I should like to investigate his feelings. Perhaps the conquering sergeant was right, but here's another story.

At six, one night a patrol on a country road was approached by a woman obviously on the point of exhaustion, wheeling a baby carriage loaded with a few household goods, and containing a whimpering 18-month-old child with a tearstreaked face. The patrol asked for her pass and she showed him one which has been no good for the past 12 kilometers.

The soldier asked where she came from and where she was going and she said she'd walked from a city 40 miles distant, had stopped overnight with friends on her way and was headed six miles further on. Her home had been bombed, her husband was missing, she had no money and she was trying to reach an aunt who lived on a farm, where she thought she could find a haven. She'd walked 15 miles that day pushing the baby. But her pass was no good and the sentry said she'd have to return to the previous patrols. She just sat down on the roadside and cried quietly.

The soldier, after a few minutes of silent embarrassment, said, "Wait a minute, lady," and went to the nearest house. He returned in a few minutes and said: "Come with me. You aren't going to walk a step further in any direction tonight." He took her to the house where she was greeted at the door by a strange German woman, who took her in and gave her a bed and part of her own rations helped out from the soldier's pockets.

The soldier, off duty, hailed a jeep, sent back, fixed her pass and picked her up the next morning, after hailing a passing German car and ordering the driver to transport the woman and child.

I didn't hear that story from the soldier, but three times from three separate Germans in the same district. I went the rounds like a Sunday school text. The soldier, it started, spoke to her in fluent German. It was—it was Yiddish.

Which soldier was doing the best job of "re-education" Policy says the first; humanity says the second. But, anyhow, I know which one was helping nature.

I think, after getting to know individuals in the Army, that soldiers when allowed to behave like a natural human being, are the best propaganda democracy ever put out. When compelled to behave like robots they become stupid and most unconvincing. They don't return a friendly greeting with a cold superman stare, but by a shy aversion of eyes and are obviously more embarrassed than the other.

Sometimes the non-fraternization policy reaches a completely self-defeating lack of dignity on our part. One Sunday afternoon some soldiers were bathing in a Bavarian lake which was also filled with young Germans, when MP's, in white helmets and one in a low-flying airplane, zoomed around the lake, bellowing through megaphones: "Keep away from those Germans." "Keep away from that girl." This amounted to public humiliation of our men, and the young Germans roared with laughter. The only discomfitted persons were our own boys. It was an open advertisement that we have no really tough methods to uphold the program.

The fact is, our soldiers don't like the Germans, with those notable exceptions that occur in all human relationships. They sometimes hate them in the extent that a completely uncontrolled policy would lead to straight murder. Any German getting fresh with them is likely to have a hard time.

But the soldier in the ranks has never been informed just why this non-fraternization order, anyhow. He doesn't like it, he doesn't observe it, his pals aren't informers, and so it doesn't work. A more constructive policy might. Meanwhile, when the MP's eyes aren't on him, he is making his own policy.

There is, indeed, a world shortage of most essential foodstuffs, which is particularly hard upon us through the deprivation of normal sources of imports. As President Truman notes, while Australia and New Zealand continue to feed most of the United States forces on the Pacific front, those Dominions are not able to send us the quantities of food we received from them in peace-time. Lend-lease has been essential to the Allied campaigns. Two-thirds of the tanks with which Field Marshal Montgomery swept from the Rhine to the Elbe were lend-lease products. President Truman has given the other side of the account, too. Reverse lend-lease—supplies, installations, transport—furnished by us amounted to 54 per cent of the total required for the defeat of Germany. Throughout the struggle, share and share alike has been almost the first principle guiding British effort.

Reform Needed

HALIFAX HERALD

Almost continuously, in both federal and provincial affairs, the divisions of House membership bear no relation to the divisions of the popular vote in this Dominion . . . the strongest possible argument for effective electoral reform. Fleet Train In Readiness

Naval War in Pacific Involves Elaborate Organization and Equipment

LONDON.—Under Vice-Admiral Sir Bernard Rawlings, a powerful "task force" of the British Pacific fleet is operating against the Japanese in the Ryukyu Islands. The fact that this powerful force is operating well over a thousand miles from the nearest land-base stresses the importance of the "fleet train" devised by the British Navy for Pacific war. Mr. Churchill on Sept. 9, 1944, said that nine months previously Britain had begun the creation of an "immense fleet train," comprising many vessels, large and medium, fitted as repair ships, mechanical ships, munition and provision ships, with many modern variants, in order that our fleets may have the degree of mobility which for several months together will make them largely independent of their main shore bases.

Graham Stanford, the Daily Mail correspondent, in a despatch published this week on this "fleet train" at first in British naval history, describes it as a "chain of salvage vessels, repair ships, mine-sweepers, aircraft repair ships, oil tankers, aircraft repair ships, munitions ships, and general store ships. Small carriers will ferry aircraft and crews to the scene of operations, where the aircraft will be flown on to the fighting carriers. Floating workshops will be capable of dealing with serious hull damage. Only badly crippled ships will be forced to leave the fight. Floating barracks house a large force of naval rating for repair work."

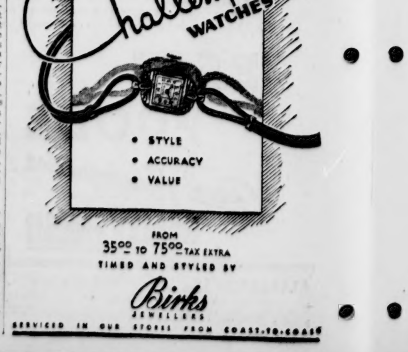

Typical of the elaborate equipment of components of the "fleet train" are the aircraft components repair ships, supplementing the repair shops on the aircraft carriers themselves, which among them can effect all repairs to the Fleet Air Arm planes, including those normally done ashore. One such ship has over 300 highly skilled fitters. 80 electricians. 360 tradesmen. This ship's hold contains 18 spacious workshops and up-to-date equipment, including an eight-inch lathe. The ships are air conditioned throughout, and amenities for the men include many shower baths, spacious recreation rooms, a laundry, a cinema and a well-stocked canteen.

To provide even more fully for the recreation of officers and men of the Pacific fleet, who have been forced for lengthy periods from normal civilized life, "Amenity Ships" are being provided, with entertainment halls and recreation spaces, with beer bars, soda fountains, ice cream bars, and brewery plants. Each brewery plant has two refrigerating machines. The navy's requirements for new refrigerating machines is about 500 monthly.

Mr. Churchill, on Sept. 9, 1944, stated: "For a year past, our modern battleships have been undergoing a further measure of modernization and tropicalization to meet the rapid wartime changes in technical apparatus." To obtain data on wartime conditions of operation in the tropics a special British scientific mission was sent to the eastern bases. Naval architects, ventilation and air conditioning engineers, physicists, chemists, physiologists, psychologists, etc., have all worked on the basis of information thus obtained. Tropical-proofing machinery and equipment is "lagged" to minimize the leakage of heat to the surrounding air. The "lagging" is sprayed by "limpet" asbestos (invaluable for the complete cover of irregular surfaces) applied to the ventilation trunking to keep the temperature as low as possible. In the large mess decks of the major warships, the whole air is changed at least 12 times hourly; in the machinery compartments 60, in the galleys 120 changes are needed hourly. The most vital compartments of every major warship are specially air conditioned, although the provision of air conditioning machinery makes serious demands on space already limited by the multiplicity of new weapons and devices and extra personnel needed for their operation.

Unlike some other navies, e.g., the German and Italian, the British fleet was almost ready to leave at short notice in any part of the world. Measures for tropicalization of the British battleships and aircraft carriers, cruisers, and smaller warships as capable of operation with full efficiency in the Pacific as in the Arctic or Atlantic waters. The new fleet train renders the British Pacific fleet able to remain at sea for long operational periods. Thus equipped, the British Pacific fleet has already begun to implement the "leap-frogging" movement described by Churchill to the house of commons on Sept. 8, 1944: "On behalf of His Majesty's government, nearly two years ago I assured the president that Britain would pursue the war against Japan with all her strength and resources to the very end. Accordingly we offered to the United States a fine modern British fleet—we asked that it should be employed in major operations against Japan. This offer was at once cordially accepted." Since Churchill spoke, announcements have been made of the launching of Britain's largest and greatest warship, the "Vanguard," which is described as destined "to sail in tropical waters against any enemy we particularly want to beat."—United Kingdom Information.

Refrigerated Chair Ensures Comfort When Mercury Soars

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW ORLEANS, July 13.—(AP)—Here's a new hot weather hint: A chair that cools people who sit in it.

The chair is in a laboratory at the Tulane University School of Medicine. It is made of metal, shoulder-blade high in the back, and cool water flows continually through its back and seat.

Many persons have sat in this chair while the room temperature was 105 and humidity very high, and remained comfortable for three hours at a stretch. In moist heat so extreme that those superintending the experiments can remain only a few minutes without extreme discomfort, the chair sitters do not have a speeded pulse nor breathe differently, as commonly happens in great heat.

These Tulane experiences, part of a study of how heat and water escape through the skin and in the breath, are conducted by Dr. Geo. E. Burch and Dr. Travis Winsor of the medical school, with financial aid from the Rockefeller Foundation and the Hells Institute fund for medical research.

DELICATE SCALES

The experimentors use a scales balanced so delicately that if a person being weighed drops a single tear from his eye, the weight pointer, a beam of light, takes a distinct drop. The scales measure the invisible evaporation of water, from skin and breath, which goes on all the time, winter and summer.

This evaporation is not sweat. It does not come from the sweat glands, but diffuses directly through the skin continually. This invisible water loss is one of the main ways by which a person keeps comfortable in summer heat waves. Visible perspiration is emergency cooling.

This water loss for a man or woman totals about two pints or two pounds in 24 hours. About half of this is exhaled in the breath.

The breath water, however, carries away only a little more than 10 per cent of the body's heat on a hot day. If the temperature is excessive the breath doesn't do even a 10 per cent job of cooling.

SKIN REFRIGERATION

The body's main refrigerator in torrid weather is the skin. The tulane experiments indicate that the principal part of this skin cooling is regulated by the very top layer, the dead cuticle tissue cells that cover the skin.

This top layer lets water diffuse outward to do some cooling, and at the same time it protects people from withering like dried leaves on days when hot dry winds blow.

McCoy Health Service

More people would not be interested in health than in any other subject unless there were many good reasons why health is of value. When we attempt to study these reasons, we find they are soundly based upon common-sense. People are interested in health, not because they think it will bring them some vague reward to be enjoyed ten or twenty years from now, but because it has a practical reward which can be enjoyed right here and now.

Possibly the first reason why people want to be healthy is that they want to be physically comfortable. They are convinced that when you are healthy, you feel good all over. Disease often brings pains, aches and other discomforts, but with health there is this feeling of well-being which makes you feel ready for anything.

One of the other valid reasons for wanting health is that it is an aid in carrying out your ambition to achieve success. To succeed you need a clear brain, a steady hand, and the endurance to go on and on—and the only way to enjoy all of these is to be healthy. The race is won by the strong and strength comes from superb health.

Another reason why you may set your heart on health may be that you believe it is easier to be happy when you are healthy. You may be convinced that to be bubbling over with happiness means to be bubbling over with health.

Many women desire health because radiant health brings beauty. It is an interesting fact that our pictures of one who is beautiful are very much the same as our pictures of one who is healthy. Beauty calls forth a picture of rosy cheeks, sparkling eyes, and the red lips seen in the peak of health. With men, the beauty element is lacking, but there is a different thought of health bringing strength and virility. Thus the ideal of health affects both sexes, being appealing to women from the beauty angle and appealing to men by awakening an ideal of strong, vigorous manhood.

As we grow older and establish homes there is still another reason for desiring health and that is because we want to hand it on to our children. Any normal parent is proud of a strong, healthy child.

Every one of us is entitled to health. You should enjoy it every waking moment of every day of your life. Try to live in such a way that you deserve health and then go forward with that unbounded confidence which comes only when you know HEALTH IS YOURS.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

District News in Brief

St. Paul Couple Mark Anniversary

ST. PAUL—Mr. and Mrs. Phydime Joly celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday when a high mass was held in the Roman Catholic church. Father Therrien, brother of Mrs. Joly, and first pastor of this parish, said the mass. Father Sylvio Laporte, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Joly, and Father Girard, a nephew, assisted as deacon and sub-deacon. At noon a banquet was held in the Parochial hall attended by several hundred persons.

Mr. Joly was born in April, 1866, and Mrs. Joly was born in June, 1868, both at St. Anne des Pleines in Quebec. They were married in July, 1885. Fourteen children were born in Quebec and three in this district. Of the children, 15 are still living.

Mr. and Mrs. Joly and their children came from Montreal to Vegreville by train. They travelled by "demcerat" from Vegreville to Brosseau, and by sleigh from Brosseau, arriving at St. Paul in April, 1908.

They tell of meeting Father Lacombe, who had been in this district before they had arrived, to set up a reservation for the Indians. Next to Father Lacombe, they were the first white settlers in this district. They made their first home on a homestead near here.

All in all, they have 92 grandchildren and 30 great-grandchildren.

Serviceman Dies In River Tragedy

LLOYDMINSTER — Mrs. E. E. Williams of Lloydminster has received word that her brother, Sgt. Victor Emmanuel Bjork of the 1st Canadian Tank Brigade lost his life in England in a drowning accident. Sgt. Bjork, who enlisted in November, 1940, has seen service in Italy, France, Belgium, Holland and Germany, and was in England at the time of the fatal accident, waiting his sailing orders for Canada. He had survived a motorcycle crash in 1942 and after being hospitalized for seven months went back into active service.

Canoeists Marooned After East Storm

MALARTIC, Que., July 12.—(CP)—Aime Blais, 28, mine accountant, and his two sisters-in-law, Angele Jacob, 18, and Normande Jacob, 16, were recovering yesterday after suffering exposure when marooned for 24 hours on an island in Malartic Lake in Northern Quebec. The party left on a fishing expedition Tuesday when a strong wind sprung up, forcing Blais to land the canoe on an island. Clad only in bathing suits, they took shelter under a tree, and while there, the canoe drifted away.

Hanna Serviceman Killed at Okinawa

HANNA—Pfc. Gilbert E. Wulff was killed in action on Okinawa on April 22, according to a telegram received by his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Wulff.

Pfc. Wulff entered the army in 1943 and received his basic training at Camp Roberts, Calif. He had served in the Pacific theatre of operations for 10 months and took part in operations in the Ryukyu Island group.

Born in January, 1925, in Augusta, Ky., he attended school in Melville, Sask., and high school in Hanna, Alta. He was employed at the Hazen Drug company at the time he was called to service.

Say Good Progress Shown by Legion

LLOYDMINSTER — At the regular meeting of the Lloydminster branch, Canadian Legion, a satisfactory progress report was given on subscriptions for the new Legion hall, which the club contemplates erecting. The club acknowledged receipt of a donation of $100 from the Ladies Auxiliary for the building fund.

Ponies Scheduled As Fair Highlight

LLOYDMINSTER—Horse racing will be one of the big features of the Lloydminster exhibition Tuesday and Wednesday, July 24 and 25. This has been made possible by the amalgamation with the Maidstone Racing committee.

After an absence of two years, the Wallace Bros. shows will provide the midway for the exhibition.

Hold Service For George Henry Harms

BARRHEAD — A funeral service for George Henry Harms of Barrhead was held at the Paddle River cemetery. Mr. Harms was born in Bellevue, Iowa, in 1893 and came to this district and settled in 1918, when he married Constance Staniland. He died Sunday in Edmonton. He is survived by Mrs. Harms and six children.

Donates $25

LLOYDMINSTER — Elks Lodge has donated $25 to the Lloydminster Company of Girl Guides and the First Lloydminster troop of Boy Scouts. Both of these organizations are looking forward to the day when they will have their own quarters.

Receive Gifts

BREMNER—Mrs. K. H. Wilkinson entertained in honor of Miss Viola McGhan who will be married soon. The bride-to-be received many gifts.

The man who came home late

● Yes, his dinner may be in the oven. He may have to do some explaining. But nevertheless he greets his wife at the front door with a cheery "Hello, dear. Had a busy day." All is forgiven as she sees the sparkle in his eye and the same spring in his step as when he waved good-bye that morning. Then she thinks of that dash of Eno in a glass of water he had before breakfast.

Busy days and long hours at work need not drag you down if you have that pep and sparkle—the radiant health that comes from inner fitness. Eno helps to cleanse the system of the wastes and excess gastric acids that bring on sluggishness, indigestion and that listless feeling that slows you down.

Take a dash of sparkling, refreshing Eno in a glass of water before breakfast, when needed. It's pleasant to take—free of harsh bitter salts—gentle but effective in its action. To help keep you fit, buy and use Eno's 'Fruit Salt.' Sold by all druggists.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

YANKS are out in front today for the first time since the senior ball circuit opened on May 19, as a result of their 9-6 win over Signallers, but last night's game at Renfrew Park will be remembered down through the years for an entirely different reason.

Triple plays always have been a scarce commodity and that fact made the three-way killing a delightfully pleasing dish for one of the season's biggest week-night turn-outs of paying customers.

The four double plays—two by each club—weren't hard to look at either and the third home run in as many games which Alex Kampouris contributed, was one of the longest hits of the year, the ball clearing the right field ball with plenty to spare. The Sawyer-Gray duel also was very promising until the Signallers' defence cracked in the eighth.

NOT STRANGER TO RENFREW

ALTHOUGH far from making habit of turning up in Edmonton, the triple is not a stranger to Renfrew. It is, however, just over 11 years since the last one occurred there—and it was on a Thursday too. Including last night's, only a pair have occurred in regular senior league play in that park.

A triple was executed at Renfrew during the senior session between Shastas and Army and Navy Cubs on Thursday, July 5, 1934. Don Conklin playing first for the Cubs, took a low drive from Larry Sillar's bat, raced back to the bag in time for the second putout and then whipped the ball across to third in time to catch Abbey who had been headed for home.

Phil Horn, now an umpire, was on the Cubs lineup that day and so were Cliff Robinson and Eric Dolighan. John Ducey was one of the officials that day. A triple also is said to have occurred at Renfrew in an exhibition between Kansas City Monarchs and a House of David nine and another when the House of David was playing the Chicago Colored Giants.

City-Owned Silent Flame Calgary Juvenile Winner

By LOU DAVIES

CALGARY, July 13—Silent Flame, one of the finest two-year-old fillies that western racing has seen in recent years, showed her class and speed, Thursday afternoon, in capturing the Calgary juvenile stakes, one of the highlights of the Calgary Stampede race meeting.

Away slowly in the field of eight which contested the premier juvenile event of the wester fair circuit, the daughter of imported Osiris 2nd-Silent Hope, owned by Burrows and Walker of Edmonton and ridden by Bobby McKenzie, made a show of her field when she came from last place to win by five lengths going away. Dustbane was second in a driver over Moose Jaw.

Dr. F. G. Salisbury's Sioris looked to be a winner when taking the lead in the early stages of the five furlong sprint but faded badly when close pressed by Moose Jaw. The latter took command after three furlongs but Silent Flame easily took the lead at the final turn.

The winner broke slowly and McKenzie wisely moved to the inner rail in order to save ground, and when he called on the filly she responded in a sensational manner.

The large crowd played Silent Flame into odds on favoritism and a $2 mutuel price was $3.50.

The Cuban rider, G. Gonzalez scored with three winners, Lady Barber in the first, Tarzana in the fourth and Sillavroc in the night cap.

Trainer Earl Robertson of Edmonton saddled two winners in Lady Barber and Tarzana.

The speedy Sable Gift, winner of the second race, was claimed by J. F. Neel for $500 while Lou Marks took Tarzana out of fourth for the same money. Dry Marsh which ran second in the sixth was claimed by Mrs. M. McKendrick for $800.

Four favorites got down in front during the day, the best for public choices at the current meeting. Both the double and quinella paid short prices. The double from Lady Barber to Sable Gift was worth $19.30 while the quinella of Sillavroc and Alaska paid $6.90.

Nelson Reaches Quarter-Finals

DAYTON, O., July 13—(AP)—Byron Nelson of Toledo was the Cinderella man Thursday as he steamed into the quarter-finals of the 27th National Professional golf tournament.

Nelson was two holes down to Mike Turnesa of White plains, N.Y., with only four holes to go, but he beat the clock by clipping four strokes off par in just three holes to win from the veteran easterner, one up.

Joining Nelson in the quarter-finals were Ky Laffoon of Miami, Okla., Clarence Doser of Hartsdale, N.Y.; Sam Byrd of Redford, Mich.; Vic Ghezzi of Atlantic City, N.J.; Denny Shute of Akron, O.; Ralph Hutchison of Bethlehem, Pa.; and Claude Harman of Grosse Point Wood, Mich.

Henry Martell And Vern Mohs In Semi-Finals

Henry Martell and Vern Mohs entered the semi-final round of the city amateur golf championship on Thursday afternoon. Henry defeated his brother Burns, also of the Highlands Club, one up, and Mohs won from Reg (Pep) Moon two up.

Martell, defending champion, will now meet Vern Mohs in the upper half of the draw and Glen Gray will oppose Johnny MacDonald in the lower half to go into the final. Semi-finals will be played Saturday and the final on Sunday.

Although he finished with a 65, Henry Martell had to battle all the way in the match with Burns and the latter held a two-stroke lead at the half-way mark, going out in 32 as compared to Henry's 34.

Mohs had Moon two down at the turn, but "Pep" won the 10th and after halving the next two holes lost the 13th to go two down again. Moon then came back to win both 14th and 15th holes, but Mohs took the 16th and after halfing the 17th also won the 18th.

Flyers Halt Moose

Clippers Continue March By Blanking Centrals 5-0

Clippers kept up their long winning streak in the Edmonton Senior Men's Fastball League by blanking the second place Centrals 5-0 in the first half of the twin bill played at Kingsway Park last night. Out of a total of sixteen games played to date the league leaders have only suffered one setback during the entire season.

In the second fixture, the RCAF Flyers defeated the Moose 6-1 to move into a fourth place tie with the Lodgemen and leave the Commandos in sole possession of the third position in the loop's standing.

All three of the errors charged against the Centrals were in the opening inning in which the Clippers were quick to take advantage of, together with a pair of walks and a double by Carl Miller to score four out of five runs. Their other lone tally was notched in the sixth as Joe Pohrer tripled and completed the circuit by coming in after Bill Fogarty's long fly ball was caught in the outfield.

TWO RUNS IN FOURTH GIVE FLYERS START

With the Moose scoring their lone run in the third inning to take a short lead, the Flyers got going an inning later to wipe it out and coast on to victory. They scored two in the fourth, three in the fifth and one in the sixth by bunching their six hits at the right time.

Stew Cowan on the mound for the winners had a little edge on the losing pitcher, Manny Fefferman, by striking out 12 batters to his opponent's nine, and gave up only three hits to Fefferman's six.

FAMOUS FOR FIRSTS

Besides being the home of the Declaration of Independence, Philadelphia was America's first seat of government, saw the making of the first American flag, had the first navy yard, and had the first mint.

Triple Play By Losers In 6th Heat

YANKS ousted U.S. Signals from first place in the Edmonton Senior Baseball League when they took a 9-6 decision at Renfrew Park on Thursday night in a game highlighted by a triple play and four double slayings. Alex Kampouris also hit a home run, his third in successive games.

Although the Army nine had shared top spot with Signallers twice last week, the Yanks are now in sole possession for the first time and they are in front by the scant margin of a half game.

Johnny Gray pitched for the Yanks and he needed all the breaks which came his way while marking up his sixth straight victory. Johnny, whose control is usually excellent, just couldn't get his hooks to behave and walked no less than 10 men.

Bob Sawyer worked seven innings for Signallers, retiring in favor of Helmuth Brown after Ralph Schumacher had opened the eighth with a single. Yanks collected two more hits in that frame and these along with three errors netted five runs.

The triple play came up in the sixth frame. Burchfield, lead-off man for Yanks, got a life when Culver let his ground ball go through. Schumacher laid down a perfect bunt between first base and the pitcher's box and then beat it out.

Hackney, next up, hit toward Culver and the Signals' second sacker made a quick move, snaring the ankle-high ball and whipping it to Guthrie catching Schumacher sliding back to the bag. Guthrie's throw to Junker covering second, was in time to nip Burchfield and complete the triple, which, incidentally, got Sawyer out of a hole.

The clubs shared the four double plays. The Culver to Junker to Guthrie effort killed off two Yanks in the first inning and Junker started the other for Signals in the fifth, Culver and Guthrie also being in on it.

Hackney to Kampouris to Bell in the third and Burchfield to Kampouris to Ball in the seventh were the two Yank double plays.

The bases were empty when Kampouris drove the ball over the right field wall to open the seventh inning and the run deadlocked the count at 2-2.

Signallers had scored in the first frame and after Yanks drew even in the second, went out in front on hits by Huber and Culver and Gray's error.

Wyse Stops Tommy Holmes And Braves Snap Cub String

CHICAGO, July 13—(AP)—Chicago Cubs halted Tommy Holmes' consecutive game hitting streak at 37 Thursday in a 6-1 opening triumph, but in turn had an 11-game National League win string snapped by Boston Braves, 3-1, as Carden Gillenwater belted a ninth-inning, two-run homer in the finale of a twin bill witnessed by 29,513 fans.

Holmes, whose last hitless day was June 3—also at Wrigley field—was handcuffed in the opener to gain his 11th victory.

The Braves' outfielder, however, started Claude Passeau's downfall in the finale with a single.

BROOKLYN WINS SECOND

CINCINNATI, July 13—(AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers raked four Redleg pitchers for 12 hits last night to defeat Cincinnati 11-5 in the second game of the National League doubleheader. The Reds took the opener 4-3.

The Dodgers required just three innings to knock out Cincinnati pitchers from the mound and score all their runs.

Joe Bowman allowed seven Brooklyn hits in notching his seventh victory in the opener, but it was a four-run Redleg rally in the seventh inning that turned the trick.

GIANTS BELT CARD PITCHERS

ST. LOUIS, July 13—(AP)—Dan Gardella's double with two on bases in the 10th inning gave New York Giants a 9-7 National League victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in the opener of a three-game series last night.

The Red Birds held the lead the first five innings until Mel Ott's pinch homer with two on bases in the sixth put the Giants ahead 7-6. The world champions then tied the score in the ninth as Deb Garms tallied on Johnny Hopp's single.

New York collected 13 hits off four Cardinal hurlers while St. Louis gathered eight hits from three Giants' moundsmen.

PIRATES BLANK PHILLIES

PITTSBURGH, July 13—(AP)—Hurler Nick Strincevich scattered five Philly hits and chalked up his sixth consecutive win last night as Pittsburgh Pirates blanked Philadelphia Phillies 4-0 before 15,044 fans.

The hefty right-hander lashed a single to right field with the bases loaded to drive in two of the Pirate tallies. It was Strincevitch's ninth win of the season against three losses.

The Pirates combined three hits, two bases on balls, a wild pitch and a long fly for three runs. Bob Elliott's third straight hit followed by Bbe Dahlgren's single in the fifth accounted for the other run.

NHL Schedule Is Hit by Shortage Transportation

MONTREAL, July 13.—(CP)—The National Hockey League has run into schedule trouble because of transportation shortages, a short time before the schedule approved last month is ready for release, it was learned Thursday night.

The troubles are connected with the league practice of bunching games at week-ends, with teams making fast overnight trips between Saturday and Sunday night games. One difficulty is the probability that sleeping cars will not be operating on overnight trains, so that unless changes in the schedule are made, teams will be playing Saturday nights, riding in the day coaches after the game and then playing again the following night.

Another difficulty involves Montreal-New York games. Such games were frequently home-and-home affairs, with the teams playing here Saturday night, catching the late train to New York by inches, and then playing in New York Sunday night. Now the league has learned that the late night train will not operate next winter, with the last train out of Montreal for New York leaving about 9 p.m.

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK, July 13—(BUP)—Racing biggies—who display touching sentiment for horses, but little "horse sense"—must have splashed tears of sorrow into their coffee saucers this morning because Uncle Sam had halted the flight of Sea Swallow.

Sea Swallow, you may remember, is C. S. Howard's brown three-year-old colt which travelled in hoss-pullmans a total of 5,291 miles during the past two months, while our fighting men were being shipped about the USA in cars that were so jammed at times they were unbearable.

There is a possibility that the Swallow's "grand tour" stimulated J. Monroe Johnson's kicking leg when he booted the bang-tails off the choo-choos Wednesday. J. M. J. is director of the office of defence transportation; he also pitchforked the hay-burners off the public truck-vans.

THE PILGRIM PONY

OF course, Mr. Howard's colt—son of the mighty Seabiscuit—was not the only equine excursionist since the racing ban was lifted May 9; but he might be called the "hawss celebre" because this pilgrim pony apparently was the worst offender of good wartime taste.

If you have at hand a map of North American continent, you can follow the wanderings of this oat-mangling Marco Polo. When the ban was lifted in May, Sea Swallow was at Agua Caliente, Mexico, where he had won his first two starts as a three-year-old in April.

Then the Gypsy instinct in him unbridled. He journeyed to Churchill Downs, Ky., where he finished seventh in the Blue Grass Stakes and a similar seventh in the Kentucky Derby. Next stop on his Cook's tour of the turf was Pimlico, Md., where he popped under the wire sixth in the Preakness. Heartened by this improvement, he grabbed a rattler for New York's Belmont Park, where he advanced a notch by winding up fifth in the Belmont Stakes.

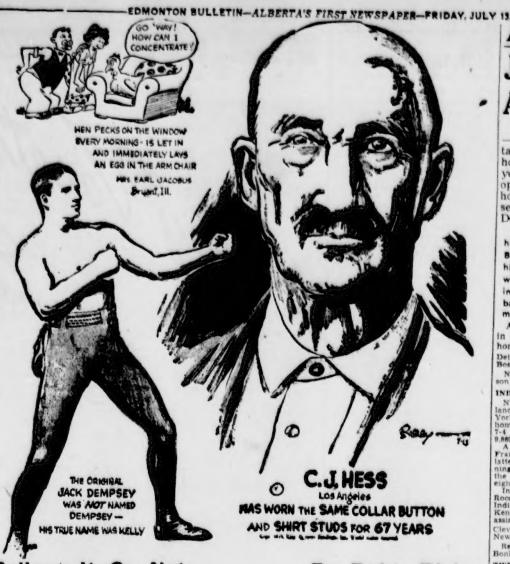

IN ARLINGTON SATURDAY

THERE is an old saying that travel is broadening. Well, it must have broadened the Swallow's stride, because he took a jaunt up to Suffolk Downs, Mass., and there won the Yankee handicap on July 4th.

The ambling alfalfa inhaler stunned everyone with this victory, paying $34.60 to the seafaring bottle-toters who had backed him because of his name combination. This triumph also earned $25,657—largest purse in the handicap's history—for owner Howard's Pacific coast automobile magnate.

Sea Swallow was mighty proud of this achievement. He had proved he could pay his way—that he wasn't a mere horse-collar around Howard's neck. He could pick up cabbage, and that ain't hay. So he whinnied, "On to Chicago . . . On to Washington Park . . . It's only 1,018 miles away." So the son of Seabiscuit was shipped to Washington, where on Saturday he is slated to compete in the Arlington classic.

It is understood that the Swallow had a very enjoyable trip—that he suffered none of the discomforts of the service men in the coaches, some of whom were travelling under conditions reminiscent of the old "40 and 8" cars in France during the last war. The "40 and 8" meant 40 men or eight horses. Travelling condition in those days brought tears to the eyes of many prominent sportsmen. The very thought of it made their hearts bleed—the thought of eight horses being crowded into so small a space.

Jim Wilson Tames Tigers As Red Sox Open Home Stand

BOSTON, July 13.—(AP)—Righthander Jim Wilson tamed the capable Hal Newhouser in a keen pitching duel yesterday when the Red Sox opened their longest stay home of the American League season with a 2-1 victory over Detroit Tigers.

In addition to turning in a six-hitter, Wilson figured in both Boston runs. He got the first of his two singles off Newhouser, who was striving for his 14th win, in the third inning and then was batted around by Jack and Tommy McBride.

After Skeeter Newsome doubled in the fourth, Wilson brought him home with his other hit.

NEW YORK, July 13.—(AP)—Cleveland Indians spoiled the start of New York Yankees long American League home stay by defeating the Bronxites 7-3 yesterday before a paid crowd of 9,000.

A trio of homers by Mickey Rocco, Frankie Hayes and Jeff Heath, the latter with two on in the seventh inning spelled Ernie Bonham's doom as the Yankee flinger went down to his eighth defeat in nine starts.

In addition to the third homer, Rocco added three singles to lead the Indians 13-hit attack off Bonham and Ken Holcombe who came to Ernie's assistance in the seventh.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(AP)—Dutch Leonard joined the 10-game winners last night by pitching the Senators to a 6-2 American League victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Leonard injured his right hand in fielding a hard hit ball by pinch-hitter Guy Curtright in the eighth inning and Alex Carrasquel hurried the relief.

The victory enabled the Senators to gain a full game on the pace-setting Detroit Tigers and opened a 17-game home stand.

For Newsom the first game was snapped his personal 12-game losing streak that began April 21 Newsom whose record now stands at two victories and 13 defeats, allowed only two Browns to reach third base.

Poolers Default To St. Railway In Intermediate

A little fireworks broke out in the men's division of the Intermediate Fastball League doubleheader at Boyle street ball park last night.

With the Street Railway leading the Dairy Pool 8-2 in the third inning, catcher Smith of the Poolers couldn't see eye to eye with Umpire Jack Youziwishen and finally called his club off the field. The game was awarded to the Radial men by default.

In the girls' division, Red and White players thrilled their supporters with a big eight run rally in the sixth inning to come from behind to defeat the Dairy Pool 12-8.

Both clubs divided 10 hits evenly between them, but the winning club made their's count at the right time. They also played a lot tighter ball in the field than their opponents by only making four errors to the opposition's seven.

Nellie Brown with a home run in the sixth with the bags empty, Mary Senbeluk with a double with one on in the 1st were the big noise at the plate for the Red and White girls. The longest hit for the Dairy girls was a triple by Marge Shannon with two on in the fifth.

Phil Marchildon Rejoins Athletics

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—(AP)—Pitcher Phil Marchildon of Penetanguishene, Ont., recently discharged from the Royal Canadian Air Force, rejoined Philadelphia Athletics Thursday.

Veteran of 26 bombing missions over Germany, Marchildon was released from a Nazi prison camp in May. He said he would need about three weeks to get into playing form.

Marchildon won 17 games for the first place A's in 1942 before he joined the RCAF.

Retains Full Power

Happy Chandler's Contract Is Approved by Club Owners

WASHINGTON, July 13—(AP)—Senator A. B. (Happy) Chandler was formally and firmly seated Thursday as baseball's high commissioner. In one of the shortest joint meetings on record, one hour and 45 minutes, major league club owners unanimously approved Senator Chandler's seven-year $50,000 contract.

They also gave him just about everything he asked for, and when "Happy" got around to telling newspapermen about it, he glowed with pleasure and relief.

Rumors had been current that Senator Chandler's power would not be as great as that held by his predecessor, the late Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, and that some club-owners hadn't cottoned to him.

Senator Chandler did not actually sign a contract. It is still to be circulated among club owners for their signatures.

He told reporters his authority will be virtually the same as that enjoyed by Judge Landis—although he has no intention of using it in the same way—and commented:

"I told them (the clubowners) that if I ever made an issue on a matter that I said was detrimental to baseball that I would win or they would have a new commissioner."

Senator Chandler personally called the signing of teen-age players to the attention of the owners. High schools and colleges have filed protests.

"There is no disagreement (among owners) for the need of clearing up this situation," Senator Chandler said. "They're anxious to adopt a rule and will give it the closest consideration."

A committee now is working on the problem.

Looking well toward the future, a post-war committee will meet soon, probably with the minor leagues in Chicago, July 23.

No joint action was taken on transportation difficulties.

"We are getting along pretty well as things are," Senator Chandler said.

Nor was there any discussion about the world series. The answer to whether it will be played under office of defence transportation restrictions can wait upon later developments, he indicated.

SATURDAY MORNING SHOW

Doors Open 10:45 — Show Starts 11 a.m.

It Says Here

by Bob Hope

SOMEWHERE ON THE ATLANTIC.—We met the commander of our ship, the Queen Mary, this morning—Commodore Sir James Bisset. The commodore's 63 years old but for the past five years he's been constantly on duty getting troops and equipment safely past subs, mines and dive bombers without a single mishap. But frankly I was a little disappointed when I met Sir James. He didn't look anything like Charles Laughton. Everything on this ship from Sir James down is very English. When they want to stop they don't drop an anchor—they just release a loaded tea bag. And they don't call those round windows portholes. They refer to them as starboard and port monocles.

BOB HOPE

What a colorful group of passengers we have this trip. Besides our little group of tourists, they include several hundred American officers, a couple of battalions of Japanese-American GI's on their way to Europe as replacements, some Polish and Russian officers, a bunch of RAF cadets who have been training in Texas and Arizona, a detachment of WAC's (our secret weapon), some English WREN'S (same thing with "right ohk's"), some German prisoners-of-war being taken back to help pile up the rubble, some English citizens repatriated from Manila prison camps, and a handful of American civilians on government business.

The ship is sort of a League of Nations with a purser. But they are really crowded aboard on these trips back. Men sleep and eat in shifts of 2,250. Seven shifts a day. They only serve two meals a day to the soldiers, but the food is really marvelous. They have butter and some delicious stuff that's really tasty and chewy. They call it "meat." It's really a shame they can't leave some of that nutrition when they pause in England. Meat's as strange to an Englishman as it is to Sinatra, and I understand they've cut the ration over there again, which will make it plenty rough. Those English have been living and fighting for over five years on rations. It won't be long before we sight land. The Queen is about the fastest liner afloat now and they don't take any chances on her slowing down. They have huge steam turbines in the hold, auxiliary engines in the stern, and two ensigns standing by up front with canoe paddles.

Ottawa Government Won't Aid Housing

VANCOUVER, July 13.—(CP)—Mayor J. W. Cornett said in an interview here yesterday that the only step the Dominion government will take to ease Vancouver's acute housing situation "is consider lending us money at three per cent to install sewer and water facilities to serve new homes."

He said federal officials, with whom he has just conferred at Ottawa refused to make financial arrangements with provincial governments or municipalities and expressed determination that established financial institutions must do all financing for low-rental homes. Dominion government officials had insisted municipalities must shoulder responsibility for post-war housing.

Mr. Cornett added he doubted if ratepayers will pass a by-law to borrow federal money for water and sewer improvements to a "soldier city."

Declaring he feels the federal government should assume a more generous share of responsibility for returned men, the mayor said he told federal officials that 40 per cent of discharged army personnel in Vancouver come from other provinces and "the responsibility is a national one."

Mayor Cornett will ask city council to attempt to interest the Dominion government in Alderman George C. Miller's scheme to provide hundreds of low-rental homes on city-owned land.

Men on "Uganda" In Good Health

By WILLIAM STEWART

ABOARD HMCS UGANDA AT A PACIFIC BASE, July 13.—(CP)—The health of the 900 officers and ratings who make up the complement of HMCS Uganda has stood up well during the cruiser's operations with the British Pacific fleet under conditions of great heat and humidity.

Though various forms of skin rash are prevalent among the ship's company, Commander Ken Thomson of Edmonton is satisfied with the generally good standard of health that has been maintained.

The ship's daily sick parade brings a long line of men but the large proportion of the cases are the skin afflictions that are treated with ointment that has proved effective.

However, the only real cure or preventive is cleanliness and dry clothing, though the problem of keeping clothing dry is practically impossible. Return to temperate climate causes the skin breaks to disappear quickly.

Youth May Lose Sight of One Eye From Bomb Burns

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., July 13.—(CP)—William Sequin, 14-year-old Prince Albert youngster, last night faced the possibility of losing the sight of one eye following an explosion of a RCAF practice bomb he found in the Driftwood river here.

Sequin found the bomb while fishing last Tuesday in the river. He broke it open and lit a match to the powder. The bomb exploded and badly injured his face.

RCAF officials said yesterday the bomb weighed 11½ pounds and was one used in manoeuvres by the Canadian Eskimo Force in northern Saskatchewan last winter.

Penicillin Found In Mouldy Cheese

OTTAWA, July 13.—(CP)—If you would like a little of the wonder drug penicillin with your cheese, try the type that is molded and slightly rank. A health department medical officer said yesterday that such cheese ran high in penicillin content. The green mold was the stuff from which the drug was made.

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

N. M. Catrino and A. P. Weinberg of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., had quite a time for themselves at the Northeastern Pennsylvania Champion ship Tournament at Scranton. They won the Open Pair championship and the Showing day won the Team-of-Four with Morris Lawrence and Mike Depeitro. I like the way both of them were on their toes in defeating today's contract. The opening club lead was ruffed by declarer and he led a small diamond. West correctly played low. Catrino realized that declarer must have three diamonds, and was going to try to ruff one. He did not carelessly win the trick with the queen—he put on the king and now returned the queen. West realized that this was an unusual play and knew that it was made for a definite purpose, so he overtook the queen with the ace and led back another diamond, which Catrino was able to ruff with the six of spades. Thus, the defenders were able to get three diamonds and two spades—defeating the contract.

'Aussie' Troops Recognizable By Avidity for Brewing Tea

By JAMES HUTCHESON

WITH AUSTRALIAN TROOPS IN BORNEO, July 13.—(AP)—It doesn't take a second glance to tell when you are with Australian troops.

There are numerous unmistakable identifications—even if you didn't notice the Aussies stopped beside the road, making tea over a fire under a tropical sun. There is the jaunty slouch hat which identifies a "Digger" the world around.

The Aussie soldier's appetite for tea is a never-ending source of wonder. The sun will be beating down mercilessly. Men will be dropping to the ground to rest, perspiration dripping from their sopping shirts. The advance elements will be engaged in a machine-gun fight only 100 yards up the road. But out come matches to start the tea fires burning.

They eat the rations cold but get the tea steaming hot.

A GREAT FEELING

"It's a great feeling to get a hot cuppa tea inside of you on a hot day," comments a fat lieutenant who looks as though he were going to melt.

In common with soldiers of other countries, they have a souvenir craze. Along the road to the front on Lubuan Island, they swarmed over a house that yielded Japanese occupation money, postage stamps, postcards. One Aussie found a table phonograph and records and put on a musical program. Another got an electric toaster. A photographer bagged an electric vacuum cleaner.

"I'd have got that old grandfather's clock in that house down the road," quipped a digger, "but it was too heavy so I just got the pendulum."

"Hi, blokes!" It's pay day!" shouted another as he joined his comrades with a fistfull of Japanese bills distributing it to eagerly outstretched hands.

SEE NO FRICTION

In the combat zones American service troops and Aussies get along fine, and show mutual respect for each other.

There is no sign of the friction that used to exist in Australia, where the Americans, with their higher pay, had a tendency to get most of the liquor, the night clubs and the girls.

Naval Personnel Arrive For Leave

QUEBEC, July 13.—(CP)—The destroyer HMCS Saskatchewan docked in Quebec yesterday carrying more than 260 navy personnel from Newfoundland. The men will be given 30-day leaves before reporting for duty in the Pacific theatre.

Twenty-Two Killed Cuban Train Wreck

HAVANA, July 13.—(AP)—At least 22 persons were killed and 80 injured yesterday in the derailment of a consolidated railroad passenger train en route from Havana to Santiago, an official of the line announced last night.

"Dead" Chicken Takes 2 Weeks Sleep Off Drunk

MONTREAL, July 13.—(CP)—Provincial police would like to find out the name of the farmer who sent a "dead" chicken to the city morgue here under the impression it had been poisoned—while morgue officials are not a little pleased because they received the chicken after it had lain in a sealed box for two weeks.

Morgue officials revived the hen by artificial feeding, and then they decided that the hen which the farmer thought was dead had actually been inebriated. They figure the hen must have been sampling mash from an illicit still to get so inebriated that it took two weeks to "sleep it off."

Now provincial police are searching for a still. The only trouble is the farmer who sent the "dead" hen to the morgue omitted to give a return address. The box came from the Three Rivers district.

Coast Woman Dies After Being Hit By Electric Tram

EBURNE, B.C. July 12.—(CP)—Mrs. George Noble, 25, wife of an RCAF sergeant, was killed yesterday by an interurban tram at Sexsmith station, just south of here. Eburne is 13 miles south of Vancouver.

Thirteen-year-old Aileen Herbert who witnessed the tragedy told police that when the tram was a few feet from her, "Mrs. Noble seemed to crouch down as though to pick up something . . . when the tram was three to four feet away she seemed to fall to her knees."

Mrs. Noble formerly lived in Regina and Waldron, Sask. She is survived by her husband and a six-year-old daughter.

"Golly, I hate to go back to sitting on the boat' lap again Monday!"

Mrs. Himmler Told How Husband Died

NEW YORK, July 13. — The American Broadcasting Company reported from Rome yesterday that Mrs. Heinrich Himmler was told for the first time of her husband's arrest and suicide and merely shrugged her shoulders and asked, "Can it be true?"

The widow showed no emotion over the German Gestapo chief's death, or the crimes of which he was accused.

Mrs. Himmler said "absolutely yes" that she was a Nazi party member and that she knew the Nazis had a concentration camp at Dachau "and I often went there for strawberries." Of her husband she said:

"I knew he ordered traitors and criminals executed. Before the war, people in the world thought highly of him. After the war began, he was hated and despised by many."

Mrs. Himmler and her 15-year-old daughter were taken into custody by American troops several weeks ago in the Austrian Tyrol. She said she last saw Himmler in September.

Say Franco Is Ready To Quit Government

LONDON, July 13.—(Reuters)—Paris radio broadcast the unconfirmed report last night that Gen. Franco, Spanish dictator, was believed to have agreed to hand over his authority to a military cabinet and to have agreed also to leave Spanish territory.

"In spite of official denials, usually well-informed British and Spanish circles are of the opinion that important conversations on the political situation have taken place and are still continuing in the Basque zone," the radio said.

"According to reports reaching these circles, Gen. Franco is thought to have agreed to hand over his authority to a military cabinet. The same source states that Gen. Franco is said to have agreed to leave Spanish territory on this transfer of power."

RCAF Planning Jet-Propelled Aircraft Types

OTTAWA, July 13.—(CP)—RCAF squadrons eventually will be equipped with jet-propelled aircraft, it was indicated last night in an air force headquarters press release which disclosed that a jet propulsion unit suitable for use by the RCAF is being designed.

The release, which outlined Canada's plans for the development of jet-propelled aircraft during the war, said the unit is being designed by the government-owned Turbo Research, Ltd., and added:

"This is a most opportune time to begin the development of jet-propelled aircraft in Canada, firstly, because of the need of the RCAF to be provided with an up-to-date prototype and secondly, it is to be observed that civil developments have always followed military developments and, therefore civil aviation should ultimately benefit as well."

German Prisoner From Lethbridge Drowning Victim

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., July 13.—(CP)—Apparently drawn into the whirlpool after suffering a cramp, Ogefr Hippacher, 22, a German prisoner of war from a nearby internment camp, drowned while swimming in the Old Man river here yesterday. The body was recovered and powerhouse employees, firemen and physicians tried artificial respiration for more than an hour in an unsuccessful attempt to revive the man.

The victim was employed on a city works project near the powerhouse and after his lunch had gone for a swim in the river under supervision of guards. Several other prisoners were swimming at the time.

No Potatoes, So No Black Market

SHERBROOKE, Que., July 13.—(CP)—When a reporter asked D. B. Racey, prices board representative here, if a black market in potatoes existed in the Sherbrooke district, Racey replied: "Black market in potatoes? Don't be ridiculous. There are no potatoes here so how can there be a market—black or otherwise!"

The ROAD AHEAD

by Capt. HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

OFFICIALS of the Veterans' Land Act are finding it difficult to find suitable farms to place returned men on in Alberta because of inflated land values in many parts of the province. This is particularly true in districts which are well established and not too remote from railways and markets.

For example, irrigated land in the southern part of the province is selling at prices between $110 and $160 per acre. Most farmers agree that it takes at least 80 acres of irrigated land to provide a man with a living. This minimum size farm would cost between $8,800 and $12,800 at current prices.

To farm it properly expensive and special equipment is required, and a lot of practical experience combined with a capacity for unlimited hard work. The price of the land alone makes it impossible for the Veterans' Land Act people to buy any farms on irrigated land. So until either the prices come down or the government decides to provide more capital (and there is no indication that they intend to) returned men won't be able to get irrigated farms under the Act unless they can up the difference in cash out of their own pockets.

IRRIGATION PROJECTS

Part of the government reconstruction scheme includes irrigation projects in this province. And everyone who owns land in any of the districts included in these propositi knows all about the government plans. The result it that these landowners are asking $30 per acre and more for land which was previously selling at between $5 and $10 per acre. Present indications are that if and when the scheme is put into operation part of the cost will be recovered by an assessment of about $25 per acre on the land served by it. On top of this there will be an assessment for water rates which will probably run more than $3 per acre per annum.

Officials point out that a veteran who gets an irrigated farm will have to pay more in annual water rates than he is expected to pay annually to retire his loan. They don't consider it is good business to buy $5 land at $30 in the hope that it will some day be irrigated, and then, if it is, find themselves having to add another $25 to the basic cost as well as having to pay the usual water rates.

The same problem of price makes if difficult to get farms in any of the good farming areas of the province. Pegged prices and sure markets during the past five years have brought an unusual measure of prosperity to the farmer. Any of them who care to sell can get exaggerated prices for their farms from either private speculators or investors. At the present trading value of land farming in established areas will hardly permit a man to make a living and pay off his investment. If prices slump within the next two years these farms will be all over-capitalized.

TWO ALTERNATIVES

That leaves only two alternatives —either farms in remote districts, or dry-land farms. And after their experience under the Soldier Settlement Board the officials aren't anxious to put men on farms of either of these types.

While some men have managed to make a remarkable success by farming large blocks of dry land with power machinery, more men have failed than have ever succeeded. A man must farm at least a section in a block if he hopes to succeed. And there are very few, if any, returned men who possess the capital required to purchase the necessary machinery.

ISN'T ATTRACTIVE

Taking a clump of bush in a pioneer district and hewing a farm out of it may sound romantic, but in this day and age the proposition isn't attractive to many people. In fact most of the men I spoke to overseas stated frankly that they hadn't the slightest intention of attempting to do it. Even if a man does manage to clear himself a farm that will grow a decent crop the cost of getting it to market eats up the entire profit.

However there are plans being prepared by the provincial authorities to try to overcome some of these difficulties in Alberta, and these will be discussed at a later date. In the meantime the search for suitable farms is continuing.

(This problem will be discussed further tomorrow.)

No Applications Made For More French Radios

There are no applications before the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation for extension of French language radio stations, Donald Manson, Toronto, assistant general manager of the corporation, stated on his arrival here Friday.

Asked if he had any statement to make on the granting of a commercial license to CKUA, the University of Alberta station, Mr. Manson said this was a matter of policy to be decided by the corporation's board.

FIRST WESTERN TOUR

Making his first tour of Western Canada since his appointment as assistant general manager, Mr. Manson is accompanied by F. R. Radford, Toronto, supervisor of station relations. They will stop over here until Sunday.

Mr. Manson said that the CBC was now the biggest employer of talent in Canada, and was constantly on the look-out for new artists. He said that many young Canadians had been given opportunities on the CBC that had led to lucrative contracts on the American networks.

Commenting on the development of local talent in Canadian communities, Mr. Manson said the CBC was alive to this phase of cultural development, and was lending all assistance possible to the efforts of local radio stations in this development.

THE QUESTION

What do you think of the completion of the paving in the Highlands section of the city?

THE ANSWERS

GEORGE HARMON, traveller: I have taken a good look at the new paving, and it certainly is a great improvement.

TONY WILSON, clerk: It is one of the most welcome and desirable improvements that has been made hereabouts for some time. It will be a great convenience and time saver.

JIM PHILLIPS, trucker: I would say that it is not only a fine piece of work from a constructional point of view, but it is one of the most needed projects in the city.

In the bottom panel at the left is two-year-old Elaine Waring happy at having a popsicle. In the lower right is a group of children waiting to receive popsicles.

Attack of Cow Causes Cyclist Slight Injuries

"Unpremeditated attack" by a young cow, Thursday evening resulted in minor injuries to Harry Jeske, 9525 108A avenue, who was cycling along 112 avenue between 101 and 97 streets.

The cow charged the cyclist, causing damage of about $30 to the bicycle. Jeske suffered bruises only.

It is believed the animal became maddened by the heat or possibly thirst. Police Friday were making every effort to locate the owner of the animal before serious damage is done.

MATERIALS NOW AVAILABLE

Building materials of excellent quality consisting of fir siding or cedar siding, fir joists, fir flooring and trim, fir timber, cement brick and red brick are now available from the Brule Property, according to Mr. S. Madsen, who recently purchased the buildings at Brule and has been busily engaged in dismantling operations. All dwellings consist of two, four, five, seven and nine rooms, are carefully dismantled and are in separate complete units, and can be shipped and rebuilt without difficulty.

Mr. Madsen states that it will be possible for prospective home builders to purchase these units at most attractive figures and he is now in a position to invite inquiries and to release a number of these very desirable buildings.

Mr. Madsen will be at Brule and can be contacted there. Samples of materials and further information can be secured immediately by contacting—C. L. Rodgers, 10115 100A Street, Edmonton, Alberta, Phone 23344.

Cyclists Should Learn to Signal . . .

It would help to avoid accidents if cyclists would learn to use their hands and signal their intentions to other traffic. And when they intend to make a left-hand turn ride over toward the middle of the road and close to the sidewalk if they are turning to the right.

ROAD REPORTS

Roads good at Edson, Cherhill, Barrhead, Lac la Biche, Two Hills, Wainwright, Camrose and Thorsby; OK at Athabasca, Slave Lake, High Prairie, Peace River, Fairview, Grande Prairie, Dawson Creek, Beaverlodge and Fort St. John. Detours on Edmonton-Calgary highway still in effect.

CITY POLICEMAN BECOMES KNOWN AS "COVER BOY"

Const. Fred Winn of the city police department was being referred to as "The cover boy of the month" by his associates at the police station Friday.

The reason: His appearance on the cover of the July edition of the National Police Review, a Toronto publication issued in the interests of police work. Winn is shown mounted on one of the department's motorcycles, smiling at the reader of the magazine.

The constable, recently discharged from the RCAF, was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for gallantry as a member of the overseas aircrew.

Young and Old Have Gala Time At Orangemen's Annual Picnic

The hearty laugh of the race starter, the excited shrieks of race participants, young and old, and the joyful cries when the lineup for "popsicles" got underway Thursday afternoon and evening were highlights of the annual picnic at Borden Park of Edmonton and district Orange lodges.

The annual outdoor get-together marked the 225th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne. Members of city and district lodges and their families, more than 150 strong, enjoyed a full program of sports under a blazing sun that melted ice cream just a little slower than youngsters ate it.

W. B. "Dad" Martin, past master of the Edmonton lodge, had charge of running of the races. Mrs. W. H. Martin was head of the sports committee.

GROUP CONVENERS

Other conveners included Mrs. W. A. Carle, Mrs. it. Hughes, Mrs. M. Voss, Mrs. I. Waring, Mrs. B Martin, Mrs. F. White and Mrs. W. Scott. Altogether, three men's, three ladies' and a number of juvenile lodges were represented.

Special guests were 22 youngsters from the Protestant Children's Home, under charge of C. Lister, superintendent of the home and member of the lodge.

The provincial grand mistress, Mrs. A. Gilfillan, was in attendance, together with other officers.

Minister Plans For New Crusade

A new departure in the United Church of Canada activities, a "crusade for Christ and His kingdom" will be discussed at a conference of church officials in Western Canada in September and October, according to the Rev. Bruce Millar, Toronto, executive secretary of the movement, who was a city visitor on Thursday.

He said the crusade aimed to stimulate interest in the church in the post-war world.

The Rev. Thomas Hart of Hope Mission is convener of crusade committee in the Alberta conference, while members are the Rev. Dr. A. K. McMinn of McDougall United Church and the Rev. W. T. Young of Norwood United Church.

Mr. Millar was a RCAF chaplain for four and a half years, two and a half being spent overseas. Prior to enlisting he was pastor of Islington United Church, Toronto for three and a half years.

Role of Stop-Gap Wife Is Not a Happy Lot

Spite Nuptials Perilous; Disappointed Man Still Pining for Old Sweetheart Does Not Make Good Mate

DEAR MISS DIX: I am very much in love with a man who, when I first met him, was suffering from a bad case of heartbreak over a girl who had jilted him. We have been going together for five months and he has told me that he loves me and no longer thinks of this other girl, but I still feel that she is on his mind.

About a week ago we heard that this girl was going to be married next month. He immediately became very gay, almost hysterically gay, and begged me to marry him that same evening. I love him dearly and want to be his wife, but I feel that he is marrying me to spite her. Do you think we could find happiness together?

UNHAPPY.

RACE TO ALTAR

ANSWER: No. I don't, for your boy friend's insistence upon a sudden immediate wedding, when he hadn't mentioned marriage to you before, shows plainly that he is just trying to beat his former sweetheart in a race to the altar. It isn't because he desires you as a wife, and no marriage that is founded on the revenge motive can possibly be a successful one.

It is a very common thing for both men and women, who have been disappointed in love, to rush off and marry someone for whom they have neither affection nor desire just for spite, though why they think that the man or woman who didn't want them will care whether they get married or stayed single, is a mystery. Perhaps it soothes their hurt vanity to show the world that while Susie or Bill jumped at the chance. But, anyhow it is, it is always a terrible mistake.

It is especially a tragic mistake for either men or women to marry someone they love when they know they are just being used to cover up a disappointment. You seem to have sensed this and to have handled the situation with dignity. I think you should tell the man frankly that you will not be a stop-gap wife, and that unless he wants you for yourself alone you will not marry him. If you do that, the chances are that you will win out, for men's hurt hearts heal easily.

WED TWO YEARS

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I have been married two years and love each other very much, but we live with his parents and I can't get along with them. My mother-in-law makes all kinds of trouble and gets me in bad with the rest of the family. I have begged my husband to leave and for us to set up a home of our own, but he refuses. What can I do, Miss Dix?

MISERABLE WIFE.

ANSWER: Next to being faithful to his wife, it is every husband's duty to give her a home of her own, even though they have to set up housekeeping in a drygoods box. It would save about three-fourths of the divorces and oceans of tears if we could have a law that would prevent in-laws from trying to live together.

The only woman I ever knew who settled your problem satisfactorily was one who, after spending years of trying to get her husband to give her some place in which she could live in peace and comfort, away from her nagging and fault-finding in-laws, finally picked up her children and went back to Mother. She wrote him that when he provided her with a home she would come back gladly, but that she was never coming back to live with her mother-in-law. When her husband got tired of waiting for her to return, he found a house and they lived happily ever after.

AT DINNER PARTY

DEAR MISS DIX: Not long ago I was at a dinner party when the conversation turned on the war. Some of the guests thought that we should have stayed out of the war and minded our own business. Others thought the war entirely unjustified. Others thought that it was brought on by politicians in order to collect graft. And so on, and so on.

Can you believe that there is still such thinking in this country? We could see that our protests didn't make us popular.

M. B.

ANSWER: You must have gotten into a crowd of Nazis. Are you sure the dinner party wasn't in Germany instead of the United States?

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

THE NEGLECTED TEETH OF THE UPPER CLASSES

In no other department of health or hygiene has so much been said and so little progress made in the past 45 years as in dental hygiene.

According to Kugelmass, New York pediatrist, in most cases of children with low calcium intake the problem is more one of increasing absorption or assimilation than one of increasing the amount of calcium in the diet. That means grown-up children generally get insufficient vitamin D, which is essential for normal absorption, assimilation and retention of calcium (and phosphorus) in the body.

In a study of 162 children from two to 17 years old, it was found that the group receiving extra vitamin D had less than half as many cavities as the group receiving no extra vitamin D (other than the little they may have gotten in butter, cream, egg yolk, salmon).

Today the same as 30 or 40 years ago, some dentists dismiss all appeals for better nutrition with the shopworn observation that of course we refined people nowadays can't eat the coarse foods our early ancestors or present day savages eat, and so we must depend on toothbrush massage to give the teeth and gums the exercise they would get masticating coarse foods, etc.

In season and out I urge that all growing children should receive a daily ration of vitamin D and vitamin B-complex to supplement their diet, not merely to promote development of good teeth, but good posture, good bones, nerves, glands, vigor and vitality. The youngster —from one to eighteen years of age at least, should eat this D and B-complex ration daily—along with breakfast or other meal. It is essential food, not medicine. The only reason the youngster needs it in this form is because his or her food fails to supply it—or, in the instance of vitamin D, because the youngster is not sufficiently exposed to sunshine or skyshine except perhaps in mid-summer.

It is noticeable that a great many people who purport to be intelligent if highly educated and well-to-do have very poor teeth or numerous teeth missing. In their misguided zeal to preserve their teeth by brushing they convince themselves that they can get by without the services of the dentist.

I merely ask why, oh, why do such people take such a squeamish attitude in reference to brushing the teeth and at the same time limp along with from one to a dozen teeth missing—like tramps? Is it because somebody has cruelly deceived them about the saving of the teeth, and now they no longer care? Anyway there are a lot of people in the upper classes whose dental equipment is a disgrace. One might infer that dentistry is not available to such unfortunates.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

"We do not like to give our daughter an allowance," writes Mrs. E. M. H., "because she spends it on candy. Her Grandma, with whom she is living temporarily because I am ill, gives her candy, but the child took money from her pocketbook, anyway, and spent it on candy.

"Grandma explained that she should never take money and then gave her some pennies and insisted that she return the stolen money. She thinks if we start now and give her a few pennies she will not take the money.

"We have always given her money. Is it because she has to ask for it that she took it from her Grandma's purse? We see the child once a day and are very fond of her but Grandma thinks she has an insecure feeling because she does not live at home.

"She is now beginning to use bad words. I know she needs playmates but she runs away with other children even when she is allowed to play with her favorite playmate. Grandma tells her bring her friends home and she has lots of toys, awhile. Is she getting this bad language from the children, how can I stop her if there are no others to play with?"

Grandma seems very wise. But, she should keep her pocketbook out of this 5-year-old child's way. You don't put a box of candy in front of a candy-loving child and then say, "You can't have any of it."

Giving her money is the way to make her disrespectful of it. In such case she gets whatever you have in your pocket at the moment and it is spent or thrown away because there will be more the next time she asks.

To learn to manage money and understand its meaning to others, the child should have a pocketbook of her own and a regular weekly allowance. As five cents, the amount she should get now is pretty small, it won't be surprising if she spends it for candy. But spending is an important experience, even if the first spending is for trivialities.

All children, at four or thereabouts, begin to use profanity. Explain to her that this language means more to adults than to children and that other mothers disapprove of children who use words that are offensive to them. You'll have to repeat this often. You'll have to ask that she not use bad words in your presence. Send her to her room when she does. Using profanity is a temporary habit and sooner forgotten if you don't become too emotional about it.

Our leaflet, "Allowances", may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Debunker

Liars are developed, not born, psychologists say. Nobody is born with any more tendency to lying than other people. Lying results from some sort of mental or emotional unbalancing. People lie when they lack the courage to tell the truth. Inferiority complexes often make people lie to make themselves appear greater than they are. Some people lie to make themselves succeed, only to find that it makes them less successful. All this is learned and not a trace of it is born with any of us. We are all born capable of becoming chronic liars, but it is our own selves that allow it to develop.

Sugar is scarce but family appetites still crave good desserts.

MOLASSES BREAD PUDDING

Ten slices bread, cubed, 2 eggs, ¼ cup molasses, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 2 cups scalded milk, 2 tablespoons butter.

Arrange bread cubes in well-greased baking dish. Beat eggs. Add molasses, salt, cinnamon and vanilla. Add butter to scalded milk, stir until melted, then combine with egg mixture. Pour over bread and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) one hour or until firm.

Here's a Sunday dinner bread specialty which everyone will like.

QUICK DINNER ROLLS

(Serves 6-8)

One-half cup shortening, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 1 teaspoon celery seeds, 1 loaf regular or sandwich bread.

Blend shortening, salt, paprika and celery seeds. Remove crusts from bread. Cut down middle lengthwise a little more than half through loaf. Then cut half through crosswise at about 2" intervals. Spread mixture generously over entire surface and in cuts in loaf. Bake in hot oven (375 degrees F.) for about 20 minutes, or until golden brown. Serve hot, each person breaking off his own roll.

SUNDAY'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, ready-to-eat cereal, fried eggs and diced bologna sausage, toast, butter, coffee, milk.

DINNER: Pot roast with Victory Garden vegetables, baked potatoes, corn on cob, sliced tomatoes, bread, butter, crisscross blackberry pie, coffee, milk.

SUPPER: Bean soup, tossed vegetable salad, rolls, butter, blueberries and light cream, iced tea, milk.

Mother: "Let's arrange a signal. When I tie my handkerchief on this stick it will mean for you to come and see what I want. It's up to you to watch it."

Mother (calling): "Mary . . . John . . . . I never know whether the children don't hear me or just pretend that they don't. I'm ashamed to keep on yelling at them."

Any device which can be used as a substitute for mother's voice, encourages a more willing obedience.

Mrs. Casselman New 'Y' Head

By KAY FORD

A popular appointment made recently is that of Mrs. Cora T. Casselman, former Liberal member of Parliament for Edmonton East, as general secretary of the Edmonton YWCA. She will take over the position about the middle of November, succeeding Mrs. E. P. Wellwood, who has acted as general secretary for 15 years.

Mrs. Casselman was born on Oct. 18, 1888, at Tara, Ont., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Miller Watt. She was educated at Toronto public school, Barrie High school, and Queen's University, where she obtained a BA degree, specializing in English and history.

In July, 1916, she was married to Frederick Clayton Casselman, MC, BA, LLB. She has one daughter, Miss Frances Cora Casselman.

Mrs. Casselman served on the executive of the Canadian Federation of University Women as vice-president; a past president of the Edmonton branch of the University Women's club; a member of the Edmonton Presbyterial and Women's Missionary Society; an honorary secretary of the Council of Social Agencies; a member of the Community Christ, of the Westward Ho! Chapter, IODE; a past president of the League of Nations Society; a member of the Women's Canadian Club; and a past president of the Women's Auxiliary of the University hospital.

ELECTED TO HOUSE

She is a member of the Women's Liberal club and the Twentieth Century club. She was elected to the House of Commons at a by-election in June 1941 after the death of her husband who had been elected the previous year. She is a member of the United Church of Canada.

Mrs. Casselman was a busy member of the Canadian delegation to the United Nations Security Conference. She was the only woman member of the delegation. She has a great sympathy for most of the humanitarian causes which interest her sex.

She believes "if we can make sure that there will never be another major war that will be the greatest thing that has ever been done for women.

Friends of Mrs. Casselman are such international figures as Dr. Bertha Lutz, only woman delegate to the Security conference from Brazil, a noted feminist; Mrs. Aase Gruda Skard of the Norwegian embassy in Washington with whom she worked when they were fellow delegates at the international labor organization meeting in Philadelphia; Ellen Wilkinson and Florence Horsburgh, British parliamentary secretaries respectively to the ministries of home secretary and food; Dora Virginia Gildersleeve of the American delegation and Mrs. Jessie Street of the Australian delegation, all prominent in women's organizations.

The marriage was performed Wednesday at 3.30 p.m. in Knox United church manse, of Miss Grace Toane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Toane, South Edmonton, and AB. Ernest Bracke, RCN VR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bracke of Edmonton. The Rev. Elgin G. Turnbull officiated.

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a dressmaker suit of sun-deck blue. Her hat was in blue to tone, trimmed with veiling and she wore blue and white accessories. A corsage of pink and white carnations pinned at her shoulder, completed her ensemble.

BRIDESMAID

Miss Maxine Arden was bridesmaid, wearing a chocolate brown dressmaker suit, with brown hat trimmed in pink and pink accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

R. A. Toane, brother of the bride was best man.

After the ceremony a reception to 50 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents.

MOTHER'S DRESS

Mrs. Toane, mother of the bride, receiving with the bridal party was dressed in a gold figured dress with a shoulder corsage of pink carnations. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Bracke chose a blue and white two-piece silk suit, with corsage of pink carnations.

The bride's table was set with a lace cloth centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, Slender pink and white tapers flanked the centrepiece.

C. A. Toll, uncle of the bride proposed the toast.

Mrs. Bracke and Mrs. C. A. Toane, aunt of the bride poured tea.

HAS PRIVATE AUDIENCE—Wing Officer Willa Walker, RCAF (WD), of Montreal, who is senior staff officer of the Women's Division, was honored recently by having a private audience with Queen Elizabeth at Buckingham Palace.

RCAF Officer Meets Queen

Wing Officer Willa Walker of Montreal, who is senior RCAF Women's Division staff officer—was honored recently by having a private audience with Queen Elizabeth at Buckingham Palace.

The audience lasted for half an hour, and Wing Officer Walker said she found the Queen very easy to talk to, and exceedingly charming.

The Queen asked her many questions, particularly about the girls in the Women's Division of the Canadian Air Force. And she was very interested to learn that the girls were living privately in apartments or flats in London—and not in barracks.

Her Majesty reminisced with Wing Officer Walker about her visit to Canada in 1939, saying that she had enjoyed the tour very much.

Getting Rid of Man's Hat Is Always Baffling Problem

Mrs. David O. Roberts, of 9611 85 avenue, agrees that: "One of the most baffling problems that seems to crop up perennially before women is the job of getting rid of a hat—a man's hat."

It's usually a shapeless battered old felt. But the man who owns it mutters alarmingly if any disparaging remarks are made about it.

And he assumes all the injured dignity of a martyr if it suddenly disappears from the closet shelf.

Women who value peace in the home soon learn any approach to the hat problem must be a subtle one. They learn by trial and error how to get their husbands in the vicinity of a hat store.

And many have learned the hard way that likening the man's favorite headgear to something the cat would have refused to bring in the door doesn't do the trick.

ARE CONVINCED

Yet Mrs. Roberts is convinced that even though a man protests he doesn't like or want a woman to tell him what kind of a hat to wear, actually he respects her taste and judgment more than his own.

And here's some advice to you wives who have found attempts to influence a man's choice of hats sadly ignored.

Mrs. John Gert of 9549 107 avenue, said, "Your husband won't resent your efforts to help pick out his hats and suits if your advice is given honestly and diplomatically."

But, she added, "Your approach must not be blunt. It must be subtle."

In other words, it's not necessary for you to take your stubborn male by the arm and pilot him to a store. You'll get much better results by advising, suggesting and reminding in a helpful manner, and that doesn't mean nagging.

Here's another angle on how to replace that well-loved battered old hat.

USE PSYCHOLOGY

Before you start telling your husband what kind of hat to buy—do a little window-shopping of your own. Find out just what is the right men's headwear.

Then try to get your information across as painlessly as possible.

You use psychology when you want a new hat. You wait until he's well fed and in a good mood before you make any mention of that "darling little number I just happened to see and it would go so wonderfully with my blue suit."

Psychology also is a mighty good thing when you want him to buy a hat. Suggest it, don't demand it. You can show him a hat advertisement in a magazine. Or point out an attractive felt when you walk past a men's store and say "you would look good in that."

It works a lot better than telling him that the hat he's wearing is the wrong color and wrong shape. Why doesn't he just throw it in the incinerator where it belongs?

RCAMC Has Health Centre

Canadian servicewomen can be proud of their health centre at Oakville, Ont.

Officially known as Number Two Women's Services Health Centre RCAMC the Oakville centre was set up specially for women of the three services—the Wrens, CWAC's and WDs.

Life at Oakville is designed to offer rest and relaxation and military discipline is kept to a minimum. Patients take part in a variety of handicrafts and sports and in leisurely recreation and entertainment.

The centre is set in the midst of 32 acres of lawns, luxuriant trees and flowers with acres of fresh fruits and vegetables.

Patients live in four ward huts which have been painted a pleasant gray-green with red slate roofs.

ATTRACTIVELY FURNISHED

They sleep in single or double rooms, each furnished according to an individual color scheme. And every room has its own bright lamp, gay quilts and curtains.

The so-called "feminine touch" is encouraged and there are few rooms without family pictures or other personal notes.

Sports clothes are worn except for evening meals—and colorful slacks, skirts, sweater and blouses are seen everywhere.

Graduate nurses in charge of this year's staff by RCAMC personnel and by CWAC officers and other ranks.

It is the only health centre for women of the three services in Eastern Canada.

COMMANDING OFFICER

Its commanding officer is Major Susan Kober of White Bay, Ont.

Training officer is Capt. Hetty Anderson of Edmonton, and Capt. Yvette Perault of Montreal is educational officer in charge of handicraft program and music, French conversation classes and so on.

Her assistant, Sgt. Mary Fitz-Gibbon of Fort Erie, Ont., recently completed a special course in handicraft instruction in Toronto.

If you want to see your man well-hatted, help him pick a hat to suit the contour of his face, his build and his complexion.

APPRECIATES ADVICE

He will appreciate your advice if he knows it's reliable. He will be only too happy not to have to worry about the shape, the correct height of crown and the right color for harmonizing with his clothes.

If he knows that you have taken the trouble to find out what's what in men's fashions, he'll leave the choice of hats pretty much up to you.

And the same goes for all men's clothing.

Juliana In Canada

OTTAWA, July 11.—(CP)—Princess Juliana of the Netherlands, busy preparing to move her family back to liberated Holland, took time out today to tell a press conference how grateful she was for the hospitality of the Canadian people during the last five years.

The princess, who returned from Holland recently, said she had come back to get her three daughters and to say "au revoir" to the Canadian people.

"I say 'au revoir' because I have met at all the jobs that I am here for the last time," said the princess as she talked informally to newspapermen in the living room of the house she has occupied in suburban Rockcliffe since June, 1940.

"Five years is a long time and everyone here has been so hospitable, so kind and sometimes so touchingly kind that we have wonderful memories."

Two In-City-Camps Sponsored by CGIT

The CGIT Board of Edmonton is sponsoring two In-City-Camps under the auspices of the Council of Social Services. The camps will accommodate girls between the ages of 10 and 16, and will be under the direction of Miss Margaret Robertson.

The first camp will be held from July 31 to August 10, in the Queen Alexandra district. The second camp will be held in the district of Bissell church and will be held from August 13 to August 24. These will be fun and games for all.

At Winnipeg: Trading suspended.
At Chicago: ⅛ to ½ higher, closing at 1.67⅜-½ (July).

Rye Futures Up In Dull Trading

WINNIPEG, July 13—(CP)—A dull session on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange closed today with rye futures ⅛-1⅜ cent higher after posting gains of almost two cents earlier. The July finished at $1.61⅜, October $1.49, December $1.45⅜, May $1.44⅜.

Buying orders for July and October rye futures from the United States gave the market a firm upward trend early but volume of dealings was small. Commission houses and local interests took small quantities. Offerings continued light.

No new Canadian wheat export sales were reported but the trade showed a small lot of flour, equivalent to 150,000 bushels of wheat, had been sold for export. In recent sessions some 200,000 bushels of rye was sold to U.S. interests.

Heavy Purchases Lift Wheat Prices

CHICAGO, July 13—(AP)—Belief of traders that the government soon would inaugurate a wheat support program for the current crop led to considerable buying today and wheat futures climbed as much as 1¼ cents a bushel before profit-taking cut into the advances.

Other grains moved upward with wheat, but selling then changed the advances to slight losses in some cases. Rye was up as much as 1¾ cents at one time.

Wheat closed ⅛-½ higher. Corn was unchanged at $1.18½ ceilings. Oats were up ⅜-⅞. Rye was ¼ down to 1 cent up, and barley was ¼ lower to ⅜ higher, July $1.18.

Grain futures quotations close: Wheat—July $1.67⅜-½, Sept. $1.64⅛-¼, Dec. $1.64¼-⅜, May $1.64½. Corn—July $1.18½, Sept. $1.18½, Dec. $1.18½, May $1.18½. Oats—July 68¼-⅜, Sept. 66½, Dec. 66⅞, May 67⅛. Rye—July $1.53¾, Sept. $1.42⅞, Dec. $1.39¾-⅞, May $1.37⅛-¼. Barley—July $1.18, Sept. $1.13, Dec. $1.13⅜, May $1.13⅜.

Cash wheat, No. 2 Red Tough $1.69½. No corn or oats sales. Barley, nominal: malting $1.24-$1.39½; feed $1.00-$1.18.

Livestock

EDMONTON, July 13—Total receipts: Cattle 549, calves 220, hogs 1291, sheep 187.

Under fairly heavy receipts trading is somewhat spotty today with all classes definitely under pressure. The bulk of the offering is of the plain variety and with an indifferent demand will have to be sold at sacrifice prices. However, a partial clearance is expected.

The following are the quotations:

CATTLE—
Good-choice fed calves	$11.50	to 13.00
Good-choice steers	11.50	to 13.00
Fair-medium steers	9.75	to 11.00

Good to choice cows	8.00	to 9.00
Fair to medium cows	6.75	to 7.50
Common to fair cows	6.00	to 6.75
Canners-cutters	3.50	to 6.00
Bulls	6.50	to 8.50
STOCKERS AND FEEDERS—
Good steers	9.00	to 10.00
Common to fair	7.00	to 9.00
Stock heifers	8.50	down
Stock cows	7.50	down

Stockers and feeders. Good to choice stocker steers $8.50-$9.50. Stock heifers $8.50 down and stock cows $7.50 down.

Veal calves steady. Good to choice handy weights $11.50-$12.50. Heavy and common kinds $11 down to a low of $6 per cwt.

Hogs were steady. Grade A $16.80, Grade A's for Vancouver and Winnipeg $17.40. Sows strong, $11, on yards and $13.10 dressed. Feeders continue in good demand from $13-$14.50, according to weight and quality.

Lambs, were about steady with the week's decline. Spring lambs, locals $11.50-$12; off cars $12.25; medium, $10-$11; yearlings, $4.50-$6; light ewes $3.50-$4; medium ewes, $2-$3; feeder lambs $6-$6.50.

AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, July 13—(AP)—Hogs, 7,500. Good and choice $14¾, good and choice sows $14.

Cattle 1,500, calves 500. Grass steers $15, fed steers $16½-$17½, grassy heifers $11-$13, cutter cows $9, heavy fat bulls $15½, vealers $16.

Sheep, 2,000. Medium to good native springers $15, shorn native ewes 6½-$8¼.

AT ST. PAUL

SOUTH ST. PAUL, Minn., July 13—(AP)—Cattle, 2,550. Medium steers $12½-$14, common and medium heifers $10½-$13, common and medium cows $8½-$10½, canners and cutters $6½-$8½, medium and good sausage offerings $10½-$12½, medium feeders $12½.

Calves, 1,125. Common and medium $9½-$13½.

Hogs, 6,000. Hogs all weights $14.55, sows and stags $13.80, good feeder pigs $17½-¾.

Sheep, 1,500. Good and choice native spring lambs $15½-¾, medium kinds $13½-$14, common and medium slaughter ewes $5½-$7, yearling black-faced breeding ewes $14½-¾.

AT WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, July 13—(CP)—Supplies only sufficient for brief trading session. New slaughter cattle well cleaned up on steady basis.

Cattle 175, calves 45, hogs 200, sheep 10.

Steers up to 1,050 lb. choice $13½-$14, good $12-$13, steers over 1,050 lb. choice $13½-$14¼, good $12-$13, heifers choice $11¾-$12¼, good $10½-$11½, fed calves choice $13½-$14, good $12½-$13¼, cows good $8¾-$9¼, stocker and feeder steers good $9½-$10¼.

Good and choice veal $12-$13.
Grade A hogs $17½-$17¾.
Good lambs $13-$13½.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, July 13—(AP)—Light selling was sufficient to pull the props from under most of today's stock market leaders although scattered favorites managed to overcome this handicap. Prices began to slip after a steady start and were at their worst in the fourth hour. Dealings picked up in the forenoon, then tapered as the direction clouded.

Hold 'Courts Martial'

IRA Sentences De Valera To Die

LONDON, July 13.—(Reuters)—The illegal Irish Republican Army has "sentenced" Prime Minister de Valera to death, the Daily Sketch Eire correspondent reported yesterday.

I SAW TODAY—Mark Robertson on Jasper avenue, telling a friend of his current golf status;

AND

Mabel Ledgard on 102 street; Harold Jackson heading briskly south on 101 street; Alex Bonneau busying himself with exhibition matters; Beryl Byar doing some window shopping along Jasper; Vic Dingley on 103 street; Tom Tasker on the same thoroughfare.

In secret hide-outs, IRA leaders have held "courts martial" and tried Mr. De Valera, government ministers, police chiefs and prominent citizens, the correspondent said.

"In each case, the 'court martial' returned the same verdict — 'summary execution'."

The Daily Sketch report followed a Dublin announcement yesterday that 14 men whom the Eire government described as IRA leaders were arrested after the prime minister invoked emergency powers to quell what he called plans for a terrorist campaign.

RECENTLY RELEASED

The arrested men were among 300 Irishmen released recently from internment. They had been "in custody during the war under emergency powers to protect the country's neutrality.

"They formed the hard core of the IRA and were preparing to carry on acts of terrorism again," an Eire government spokesman said.

The Daily Sketch correspondent said the verdicts of the IRA courts martial "have now been served on the 'accused men'."

"A simple foolscap sheet of paper has been delivered, with the words 'Oglaigh no h Eireann' (Irish Republican Army)," the correspondent said.

"This document states the 'enemies of the people' have been tried by courts martial in their absence and sentenced to summary execution.

VALERA HEADS LIST

"A list is then given with a priority number opposite each—number one on the list is De Valera. Others among those named include G. Boland (minister of justice), a barrister who once prosecuted IRA men, and a high officer in the government's special political branch of police.

"The astonishing feature of this is that the marked paper is the official water-marked paper of the Eire army.

"Last night police, with tommy-guns at the ready, were rounding up known IRA men.

"De Valera released from internment many of its leaders only a month ago. Now De Valera has announced his intention to retain his power to intern without trial.

"He came to this decision after evidence had reached the Eire department of justice of the 'courts-martial.'"

TRACE PAPER SOURCE

Meantime the Eire army is trying to trace the source through which its official notepaper reached the I.R.A. chiefs.

"It is considered possible in Dublin that De Valera's 'We are a republic' statement in the Dail yesterday was made to placate the I.R.A.".

Driver Charged After Accident

Mrs. Eliza Stinson, 9642 107 avenue, suffered bruises Thursday when she was struck by an automobile said by police to be driven by Fernand Baril of Bonnyville. The accident occurred at the 101 street and 102 avenue intersection, shortly after 11 p.m.

Baril told police he was driving at about five miles an hour and didn't notice the woman as her grey coat blended with the color of the pavement. He was booked in at the city police station on a charge of dangerous driving police said.

Tax Prepayments

Current tax prepayments on the second instalment totalled approximately $60,000, according to figures released Friday by Thomas Walker, city assessor. The last date for payment of the second instalment is Monday, July 16.

BUTTER PRICES

No. 1, 34½; No. 2, 32½; No. 3, 30½.

CREAM PRICES

Prices for cream delivered to Edmonton creameries: Special grade, 44, No. 1, 42; No. 2, 37; off grade, 31.

All prices include government bonus of 10c to farmers.

EGG PRICES

Dealers now paying to country shippers: A large, 30; A medium, 28; A pullet, 21; grade B, 24; grade C, 18-19.

Wholesale to retail: A large, 36-37; A medium, 34-35; A pullet, 28-29; B, 30-31; grade C, 26-27.

Retail to consumers: A large, 43-44; A medium, 41-42; A pullet, 35-36; grade B, 37-38; grade C, 31-32.

This egg market is featured with a 1c advaance in paying prices for grade A large and A medium effective immediately. Egg quality is disappointingly low, and this additional premium may encourage better attention to feeding and management of laying flocks. Egg receipts show a further seasonal decreease, which is estimated at 9 per cent. less than for the previous week. Fifteen carlots of eggs were delivered to the Special Products Board, care of the local drying plant, aand one carlot booked for shorthold. One large shipment of grade A rolled to Prince Rupert, and other shipments to military camps were on a heavier basis than the previous week. One carlot of grade C rolled to Saskatoon.

POULTRY PRICES

The poultry market is increasing in activity, particularly in the case of fowl, which is being marketed now in fairly heavy volume. Producers would be well advised to carefully cull yearling flocks and retain all birds possible for egg production. This means sending to market only birds not suitable for fall production of eggs. Surplus fowl being box-packed and stored in freezers for carlot shipment interprovincial or export. Quality of fowl continues to grade a high percentage of grade A. Marketing of broilers while on a heavier basis than this time last year is still insufficient for demand. Quality of broilers shows some improvement over that of last year. The poultry market remains very firm at prices quoted. Dealers are paying for dressed fowl, all weights grade A 22c, grade B 20c, grade C 15c. Paying prices for dressed chicken all weights, milkfed A 30-31c, milkfed B 28-30c, grade B 26-28c, grade C 22c, less 6c per head for killing and dressing.

LIVESTOCK TRAFFIC

EDMONTON, July 13—Total receipts of cars trucked, driven and shipped by rail to local livestock agencies. Cars 22, cattle 490, calves 186, hogs 863, sheep 121.

Shipments on July 11th: To British Columbia, 3 cars calves, 3 cars hogs, 1 car cattle and hogs, 2 cars calves and hogs; to Eastern Canada, 7 cars hogs.

No Butter Coupons Valid on July 19th

There will be no butter coupon valid on July 19, but more sugar. This date marks the week Canadians skip a butter coupon under the curtailed ration. The date also brings due 10 more preserves coupons good for the purchase of five pounds of canning sugar. Two regular preserves coupons, and sugar coupon 61 are also valid July 19.

The butter ration of seven ounces a week is achieved by having one butter coupon good each week for seven consecutive weeks. Then a week is skipped. There is no change in the value of butter coupons, the face value remaining half a pound for each coupon, but the valid date of every eighth butter coupon is delayed so that in the net result each coupon actually is worth only seven ounces.

The next butter coupon, number 115, will not be valid until July 26.

Regular preserves coupons, P2, P3 are valid July 19, with 10 preserves coupons P4-P13 inclusive valid for the purchase of five pounds of sugar for canning. Two such coupons were valid on March 15, and eight more on May 17, totalling 20 preserves coupons now declared good for 10 pounds of canning sugar this season.

All preserves coupons have the alternative purchase value of half a pound of sugar. Any of them may be used to purchase either sugar or commercial preserves or sweetspreads.

Rooms Are Sought For Fair Visitors

The invitation to "Come to the Fair" in Edmonton next week is being backed up by the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce which has set up a special transient accommodation bureau to provide listings of bedrooms which are available in private homes throughout the city.

The bureau will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day and anyone who has a spare bedroom which they are willing to rent during exhibition week, is asked to call 27646 and list the particulars.

City hotels are practically sold out, but each night they will be provided with a list of rooms by the bureau, to help meet the demand for accommodation.

According to Reg. T. Rose, secretary manager of the chamber, they already have quite an extensive list of available bedrooms but the demand is expected to be heavy and citizens are asked to co-operate in providing sleeping quarters for visitors to the exhibition.

Reports Given At Convention Of Lutherans

Sessions at the Lutheran convention continued all through Thursday. Dr. H. Grueber reported on the work done by the Missouri Synod in Europe. Fifteen thousands dollars has been donated for relief of Finnish war orphans and more will be granted in the near future, and $10,000 has been given to the Bible Society as a token contribution to supply the peoples of Europe with Bibles.

Dr. W. A. Maier, speaker on the Lutheran hour, will shortly go to Europe with the view to establishing a key short-wave station for the broadcasting of the Lutheran hour in the various languages of Europe, with Spain as the likely location. Continuing his report on foreign missions Dr. Grueber stated that many sections of Africa are asking for missionaries. Authorities in the United States have granted priorities to enable the Missouri Synod to supply this need. Colored missions in America are likewise making good progress.

EDUCATION REPORT

Reporting on the institutions of higher education, Dr. Grueber informed the convention that the Synod's colleges, normal schools, seminaries, and university are continually achieving greater efficiency, with standards higher than at any time in the past. Many of these institutions are accredited in their respective states or provinces.

Synodical finances are in a very favorable condition, he said. About two and a half million dollars are being raised annually for church work in various sections of the world. The special peace thankoffering by the 5,000 congregations of the Missouri Synod is expected to go over $600,000 most of which will be used for rehabilitation and expansion of church work.

A movement is on foot to unite the various Lutheran synods of North America, and intersynodical conferences are being held to promote such a union.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION

The Rev. A. J. Mueller of Edmonton reported on Christian education and young people's work. Juvenile delinquency, he said, has not made any appreciable inroads into the life of our Church's youth, attributing this fact to the Christian training which the young people of our churches are receiving. Prof. A. Guebert of Concordia College, superintendent of the Lutheran Sunday School, added that 1467 children in outlying districts of Western Canada are enrolled in the Sunday School by mail.

Prof. Schwermann, principal of Concordia College, reported a successful school year and announced that plans are well underway for the celebration of the institution's 25th anniversary next summer.

The Rev. V. Eichenlaub of Lethbridge, chairman of the publicity committee, urged the convention to make fuller use of the newspapers as a means of bringing the message of the church to the attention of the public. He stated that greater use should also be made of religious films.

PASTORAL SERVICE

On Thursday evening a special pastoral service was conducted at which the Rev. C. Baase of New Westminster delivered the sermon. In it he showed that the Church of God cannot be built by the "wood, hay, and stubble" of human philosophies but only by the "gold, silver, and precious stones" of the Word of God.

At this service the Rev. Dr. H. Grueber, DD, installed the newly elected president and vice-presidents of the Alberta and British Columbia district, Pastors W. C. Eifert of Leduc, C. C. Janzow of Vernon, and W. A. Raedeke of Calgary.

Expect Material From Huts July 19

First material from dismantled huts at Dawson Creek, B.C., for use here to provide emergency accommodation for returned service personnel will arrive in Edmonton about July 19, R. J. Gibb, city commissioner stated Friday on his return from the northern town.

He said that dismantling had started, and that between four and five cars of materials would arrive in the city daily when the flow starts.

Maxwell C. Dewar and a representative of the Poole Construction Company will go to Dawson Creek Saturday to settle details of disposition and handling of certain materials.

Arthur Arnold, of the National Housing Act administration office here, is expected to return from Ottawa Saturday with news of priorities granted in connection with the provincial-municipal construction project.

Veterans, Families Said Aggravating Housing Shortage

Growing number of returned servicemen and their families is aggravating the shortage of housing in Edmonton, an official of the Chamber of Commerce Emergency Accommodation Bureau declared Friday. Families with small children were said without homes, in spite of their willingness to take suites or housekeeping rooms if houses aren't available.

One suggestion to ease the shortage is that citizens leaving the city on summer vacations rent their homes to persons wanting temporary accommodation. Last month, 382 families were on the "house-needed" list at the bureau, the official said.

HOME AGAIN—Sgt. D. K. Mills of the Canadian Dental Corps, son of Mrs. Marguerite Mills of 11118 96 street, who has returned home after service in England, Africa and Italy since April, 1941. He enlisted in July, 1940 and is a former resident of Three Hills. A brother, Pte. J. M. Mills is overseas with the RCAMC.

Police Take Man's Body From River

The body of a man, believed to be Robert Partridge, 30 to 32 years of age, of Webb, Sask., was recovered from the waters of the Saskatchewan river at Fort Saskatchewan early Thursday afternoon, RCMP said Friday.

The body was recovered by the town constable at the Fort and brought to Connelly and McKinley's funeral parlor in Edmonton. An inquest will probably be held, police said.

Identification of the body was made through papers found in the pockets of the deceased. It was not immediately known how long he had been in the river.

Victim of Wound Still in Hospital

John Pantulak, Edmonton, patient in the Royal Alexandra hospital since Monday night when police found him suffering from an alleged self-inflicted knife wound in the abdomen, was still under observation Friday. An official at the hospital said he was not yet regarded as being out of danger. Mrs. Pantulak, who alleged that her husband struck her about the head with a hammer before attempting to injure himself, also remained in hospital.

New War Seen Unless Money Problem Met

Unless the question of payment for, and distribution of goods was worked out there was a probability of another war within 20 years, Hon. A. J. Hooke, minister of economic affairs, stated before the Royal Commission on Veterans' Qualifications on Thursday.

He declared that "full employment is a myth; servicemen won't receive the pay they're getting today; the crux of the whole situation is in the money problem." The existing financial system was impeding economic and cultural development.

AT CROSS PURPOSES

Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works told the commission that many people were working at cross purposes in that they were producing more and better goods than they could purchase. A reconstruction plan was necessary before he could give an opinion on the way veterans should be trained.

L. D. Byrne, deputy minister of economic affairs, contended lack of capital was impeding development of Alberta's resources.

Vernon Pearson, mechanical superintendent to the provincial government, said veterans would receive full credit for their qualifications as long as they could produce documentary evidence to substantiate their claims.

D. E. Mould, superintendent of rehabilitation for Northern Alberta outlined proposed training of returned men in the heating and plumbing industries.

Malcolm Ainslie, a member of the prairie regional employment committee urged creation of more industry in the west.

VANCOUVER, July 13.—(CP)—Vancouver shipyard officials said yesterday the yards will supply full wartime employment until June, 1946, at least. They said their yards will be busy for a year on transport ferries.

Vets' Commission Concludes Sitting

Concluding a three-day sitting here the Royal Commission on Veterans' Qualifications left Thursday night for Regina where hearings will be continued. Later there will be sittings at Winnipeg, Montreal, Quebec, Halifax and Charlottetown, the whole to be finished by Aug. 17 and a report to be submitted in September.

Col. Wilfrid Bovey, OBE, chairman of the commission, declared that the most important work to be done by the commission would be re-establishment of the Provincial Institute of Technology and Art in Calgary and if a recommendation was implemented it should be one of a group throughout the country.

Col Bovey expressed warm appreciation of the co-operation given by Albertans during the visit to the province.

D. S. Lyons, commissioner, of Montreal, expressed appreciation of the attitude of Labor delegations under Sidney Parsons which had met the commission.

Early Resident Is 95 Years Old

Harry Wilson, one of this city's best known early residents on Friday, was receiving congratulations on attaining his 95th birthday anniversary. With his wife he lives with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hawe, 11623 Saskatchewan Drive.

He arrived here in 1892 and aided in compiling the first Edmonton census.

Born in England he crossed the Atlantic and settled in Ontario in 1871. After their marriage in Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson came west. At various times he served as a postmaster, realtor, general merchant, and banker. He was one of the first wardens of Holy Trinity church on the South Side.

In addition to Mrs. Hawe, there is one other daughter, Mrs. D. J. Teviotdale, 11150 88 avenue. H. J. Wilson, KC, deputy attorney-general, is a son. W. L. Wilkin, of this city, is a nephew, while there are eight grandchildren.

Still vigorous and interested in current events, Mr. Wilson can recall many outstanding and memorable experiences of early days here.

American Airlines Will Reduce Rates

CHICAGO, July 13.—(AP)—Two major United States trans-continental airlines yesterday announced plans for fare reductions that would bring their tariffs down to average of 4½ cents per passenger mile. United Airlines announced its intention to lower rates four per cent. about Sept. 1, subject to the approval of the Civil Aeronautics Board, and American Airlines said it would cut an average of 7½ per cent. by Aug. 15, if their petition to the CAB is granted.

Necessity For Accommodation Is Emphasized

Necessity for providing accommodation for incoming students at the University of Alberta was emphasized by Dr. Robert Newton, president of the University of Alberta, in appearing before the Royal Commission on Veterans' Qualifications at the University on Thursday.

The university, he said, had met with no success in obtaining equipment through the War Assets Corporation. Use of Canadian Army huts on the campus was advocated by Dr. Newton.

FAME GROWS

It was pointed out that in the faculty of engineering before the war about 80 freshmen were enrolled each year, but the figure, during the war years, steadily grew until it reached 180, the maximum the institution can handle.

Dr. Newton favored establishing a quota on the number of students enrolling rather than endeavoring to cope with unlimited registration.

Maintenance of standards was emphasized by Dr. Newton, who said he did not think that in the matter of university entrance a veteran with third-class standing should be given preference over a civilian with first-class standing.

Dean R. S. L. Wilson, of the engineering faculty, said he felt that at a result of the war engineering had been over-emphasized.

Dr. Scott Hamilton, dean of the dentistry department, felt that with additional equipment the university could overcome the shortage of dentists in this province.

MOST VALUABLE

Col. Wilfrid Povey, OBE, chairman of the commission, said that of the men were the human assets and the commission was endeavoring to find the best use in civilian life of skill acquired in the army.

Others who appeared before the commission were Lt.-Col. E. Brown, MM, ED, chairman of the provincial Veterans' Welfare Commission; Miss Mabel Patrick, director, of household economics; D. E. Cameron, adviser to student veterans; C. L. King, executive assistant to Dr. Newton and L. C. Stevens, vice-president, Institute of professional engineers.

Fireworks Show Will Be Climax Of Exhibition

A sparkling fireworks display is scheduled for the opening and closing nights of the summer fair. The show will be staged in front of the grandstand immediately after the grandstand show on these two nights.

The displays will be seen for miles around as the many bomb-shells shoot high into the air but the ground display will be witnessed only by those in attendance at the grandstand performance.

FIXED DISPLAYS

Among the pieces to be shown during the displays is a large wheel with a mass of whirling color in the centre. Around this is a network of sparkling spangles, creating an extravaganza of color. Another display is the "Avenue of Enchantment," a long line of fiery geysers spouting liquid golden fire, with flying emeralds, turquoise, amber drops, garnets, pearls and other gems scattered with masses of electric dust.

Three rainbow wheels, whirling masses of color, changing from dull to bright gold, enhanced by central rings of emerald green that changes to red, and "Niagara Falls," a set of silver dust, tumbling from a great height filling the air with sparks, spangles, stars and corusscations are other scenes in this display.

The climax of the display is a fireworks portrait of King George VI. This is accurately outlined in colored flame.

Wounded Vets To Get Passes For Exhibition

Veterans in hospitals in Edmonton who are able to attend the Edmonton Exhibition Association's summer fair will be given passes to the grandstand and grounds for any of the six days with the exception of Wednesday, Citizens' Day, and Thursday, Children's Day. It was announced Friday by Charles E. Wilson, managing director.

The veterans can arrange for their passes by telephoning the Edmonton Exhibition offices at the Arena.

EXPECT CROWDS

Mr. Wilson said that he would have liked to have made the passes made available for any day of the week, but the large crowds expected on Wednesday and Thursday makes it impossible to extend the free list to these two days.

He added that Monday, the opening day of the fair, was being designated Veterans' Day.

Tuesday will be Farmers' Day; Wednesday, Citizens' Day; Thursday, Children's Day; Friday, Travellers' Day, and Saturday, Old Timers' Day.

9 Are Rescued After Crack-Up In North Wilds

The Nome flight of Alaskan Division, Air Transport Command, Search and Rescue Squadron, late Saturday, July 7, successfully located and flew to safety the seven passengers and two crew members of an Alaska Airlines passenger plane which was forced down in the tundra wilderness, 70 miles from nearest civilization. The snuadron was headed by Captain James Millerick of Sonoma, California.

It was disclosed that the airliner en route to Fairbanks, was forced down out of gas about 300 miles from the Alaskan Division's Nome Air Base. Answering the ill-fated aircraft's distress signals, Captain Millerick and picked crew, veterans of many Arctic search missions, immediately flew to the scene of the crash in a PBY Catalina flying boat, locating and dropping supplies to the downed luxury liner within five hours after the crash report.

NO ONE INJURED

Unable to evacuate the passengers from the scene of the crash by air, due to swampy terrain, a ground search party was organized and flown in for rescue operations. Although suffering from shock and exposure, none of the airliner's passengers were injured. They were flown to McGrath, Alaska, by an Air Transport Command's plane.

The rescue was the 31st successful mission in the past 17 months for the Nome air base search and rescue flyers. Captain Millerick's last mercy exploit was the rescue of three Eskimo hunters, May 21, 1945, who were stranded on an ice floe in the Bering Sea.

Air Force Issues Employers' Guide

The Royal Canadian Air Force has issued a comprehensive and informative handbook entitled "Employers Guide" copies of which have been distributed here.

It is hoped that the book will assist employers in selecting and placing in positions, RCAF personnel to civilian life and to guide them towards the positions for which they are best suited.

Many different classes of duties and trades are listed and the whole is expected to be a great help in the general rehabilitation program.

Photo Exhibit To Be Feature Of Coming Fair

One of the most interesting exhibitions at the Edmonton Exhibition Association's summer fair will be "The Gateway to the North" Canadian Salon of Photography' a new attraction this year.

Some of Canada's outstanding photographers are exhibiting in this show. They include Yousaf Karsh, Ottawa, who is sending 25 prints; Dr. F. J. Tees, Montreal; D. B. Williams, Brantford, Ont.; C. J. Eaton, ARPS, Toronto; P. Benoy, Vancouver; J. Fraser Byrne, Toronto; J. W. H. Graham, Toronto; Dr. L. G. Saunders, ARPS, Saskatoon; L. Scott Brewster, Alfred Blyth, Marion A. Bomeriae, J. E. Ledgard, Mable H. Ledgard, and S. A. Williams, all of Edmonton.

Also on exhibition will be a series of pictures specially collected for the Western Canada Fairs' Association's summer fairs. More than 40 pictures will be shown all from the brushes of famous Canadian and American artists. In addition the work of many Western Canadians will be on exhibition.

HOUSED TOGETHER

The photography and art exhibits will be housed in the former link trainer building immediately east of the race track near the Manufacturers' Building.

Also on exhibition will be a selection of Indian handicrafts. The entire exhibit from the Calgary Stampede is being sent to Edmonton. This exhibit will be augmented by exhibits from the Hobbema and Winterburn reserves. It will be the largest and most varied of any shown here in recent years. It will be housed in a building near the Manufacturers' Building.

Another attraction this year will be the exhibits in the school classes. Entries are exceptionally large, and the quality is stated to be well above average. The exhibit is now being placed in position in readiness for judging. It will be located in a building next to the Manufacturers' Building.

Injured U.S. Worker Directs Own Rescue

PITTSBURGH, Penn., (AP)—While scores of pedestrians watched, a 37-year-old workman directed his own rescue from the jaws of a conveyor, calmly instructing fellow-workers cut away part of the structure to free the victim, Thomas Coulis. Doctors expressed belief the injured arm could be saved.

Chamber Group Probes Highway

C. D. Jacus, vice-president of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce has been appointed head of a special committee of the chamber to probe and report on delay in construction of the Grimshaw-Great Slave Lake highway. It is expected that conferences will be held on the subject with provincial government officials.

There has been expectation that the road would be completed by the fall of 1946 and that it would be used during the winter as a supply route for Yellowknife.

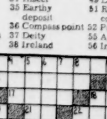

Peas were such a favorite in ancient Rome that candidates for office handed them out as today's politicians give out cigars.
